Pine Hill Lakes residents threaten class-action suit

by BECKY JOHNS

Steamed Pine Hill Lakes residents went to the Antioch Village Board on Monday wanting to know what the village's

Chamber holds boat, RV and home show

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce will stage its annual boat, RV and home show on June 15-17 at Antioch High School at Rtes. 173 and 83, Antioch.

This year the Chamber of Commerce is gearing the show to homeowners in addition to boat and RV owners and buyers.

This year the show will feature local marinas, RV dealers, camping equipment, and general household products. The household wares will be indoors, in the school's commons area.

The show will also have pizza vendors, lemonade, and other refreshments available for visitors.

The show's hours on June 15 are 4 to 8 p.m., on June 16 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and June 17 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

position is in their problem.

Residents of the Pine Hill Lakes subdivision, off of Depot Rd. in Antioch, have been complaining of problems with their homes for the past year. Currently, the residents are threatening the village and the developer with a class-action lawsuit.

Homeowners wanted to know why the developer was given permission to build in Pine Hill Lakes.

"Then sue us," said Trustee Ed Kozirowski. "Do what you have to do, but we're doing what we can to help you."

Homeowners say the problems with their homes have made living in the development a health hazard, especially when the sewer system in one home failed and sewer water flooded the home.

"There has been some trouble with sinking basements," said Antioch Village Trustee Marilyn Shineflug. "Apparently some houses are built on areas (above) unstable soil."

Village Administrator Tim Wells agreed the problems may be due to soil settling conditions.

Antioch Building Inspector Lawrence Carstensen said that although precautions were taken on those pieces of property now having trouble and that the bore test performed on the soil there showed 97.5 percent compaction (the lowest permissible level is 92 percent) there was one main factor contributing to the sinking soil in Pine Hill Lakes.

"When the fill was put in, as you know it was an extremely dry year. Fill never settles until it's soaked and wet," said Carstensen. He said part of the hilltop, (Continued on Page 8)

Gesiakowski will serve four years

Robert Gesiakowski, the 49-year-old Antioch Township marketing consultant, was sentenced to four years imprisonment on May 30.

Gesiakowski was convicted of eight counts investment fraud totaling $96,000. He had been offered the opportunity, in exchange for a probationary sentence, to pay his victims back.

For this plea arrangement, Gesiakowski was to pay $48,000 on the sentencing date and $48,000 more within the next six months, but was unable to raise the money to do so by the May 30 sentencing hearing.

Gesiakowski said he intends to pay his victims back, perhaps with a pending $120,000 business deal with an anonymous company.

Gesiakowski said he was not able to raise the money due to adverse publicity and the foreclosure on his home.

Gesiakowski, who argued that he would not be able to pay back his victims if he spent his time in jail, was convicted last year on charges of theft and violating state security laws. The charges included soliciting investments in fake companies, promising stock that was not his, and selling security interests on his already-mortgaged home.

Gesiakowski pleaded guilty to all eight counts.

Planners endorse Ivanhoe development despite criticism

by STEPH ENGLE
Lakeland Newspapers

A plan for the Ivanhoe Country Club planned unit development will be presented to the Lake County Board for final approval on June 11.

If approved, developers expect to have both the golf course and residences open to the public by early 1991.

The plan had been unanimously endorsed by both the Lake County Regional Planning Commission and the Lake County Planning and Zoning Committee although not without some criticism.

The Regional Planning Commission was concerned with the amount of trees that have been cut down to make space for the golf course as well as how much pollution will come from the chemicals used on the golf course.

The Planning and Zoning Committee was concerned with the red tags attached to the development plan.

"The contractors failed to get a site development permit from the Environmental Control Dept. for the residential portion even though they have one for the golf course portion. Plus, they need to get a permit for installing an irrigation system for pump houses, for gas storage tanks and one for remodeling a barn," said

Bill Sachen from the Lake County Building and Zoning Dept.

Even though preliminary earthmoving has been under way, the contractors failed to get a permit for the earthmoving.

Some members of the Planning and Zoning Committee had expressed sentiments to delay endorsing the plan but they recommended going ahead with the project because they felt the red tags will be taken care of by the time the final plat is formed.

The development, located south of Rte. 60 and mostly north of Rte. 176 on the west side of Ivanhoe, will feature an 18-hole golf course, a clubhouse, 90 single-family homes with lots ranging in size from 7,659 to 40,084 square feet and a wastewater land treatment system.

The 228-acre development is a trimmed-down version of the original plan which had called for 118 single-family homes and 67 town houses.

The golf course operation will be built by Thorngate-Ivanhoe Country Club Inc. and the residences will be constructed by Brook-Ridge Development Inc. of Glenview.

ASK ABOUT OUR LIFETIME SERVICE GUARANTEE.

The problem with most car repair guarantees is they give you only temporary coverage.

Many cover parts but not labor. And many of those that do cover both parts and labor don't do so for long. That's why there's the Lifetime Service Guarantee.

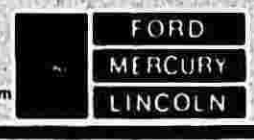

Here's how it works. Once you pay for a covered repair at any participating Ford or Lincoln-Mercury dealer nationwide, the bill will be stamped as an LSG repair. Then, if the same repair ever needs to be done again, just show your receipt and we'll fix it free for as long as you own your car. Free parts. Free labor. For life. It's that simple.

The Lifetime Service Guarantee is America's best car repair guarantee, because it covers virtually everything except normal wear and maintenance items like wiper blades and tires. And only Ford, Lincoln and Mercury owners can get it.

So ask your dealer for a copy of the Lifetime Service Guarantee. Because Peace of Mind™ is being wrapped in a blanket coverage for life. Not a bandage that's sure to fall off before you know it.

Tomer gets help

Grass Lake Board renews 4th grade teacher contract

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Grass Lake School Board has announced the hiring of a new administrator to replace the present administrator, Anthony Przeklasa.

The new administrator that will take over on July 1 is Ruth Bill, who comes to Grass Lake from Dist. 109 Bridgeview School in Bridgeview, Ill.

At present, Przeklasa is interviewing for another position.

At a special board meeting last week, the board took steps to calm the controversy over the consolidation of the two third grade classes, the elimination of a fourth grade classroom, and the non-renewal of the contract of one fourth grade teacher, Dave Tomer.

At that special meeting, in a unanimous move, the board voted to hold to the decision to put both of this year's third grade classrooms into one fourth grade classroom next year.

The board also voted to rehire Tomer to teach the 31 students in that classroom.

But to appease parents that think that 31 is too many students in one classroom, and also to make sure that the children receive a proper education, the board voted to have Barbara Coya, a reading specialist teach reading in that classroom and act as a remedial reading consultant for the entire school, taking on the reading leadership of the school.

Opponents of the one fourth grade plan were intending to attend the next board meeting with a big show of opposition to the board's decision before the above decision was handed down.

In other business, the board:

— hired Ken Wierschem as the school district treasurer for 1990-91;

— accepted the bid of Midwest Transit for the purchase of a 71-passenger Chevrolet Blue Bird school bus. With a $12,500 trade in, the bus will cost $19,305;

— rescheduled the regular June board meeting to Monday, June 11.

Christian women plan luncheon, bake sale

Antioch Christian Women's Club will hold its luncheon on Thursday, June 21 from noon to 2:30 p.m. at the Landmark Restaurant located on Rte. 173, Antioch.

An invitation is being extended to all women who would enjoy a "Trash to Treasures and Bake Sale Pleasures" luncheon. A special feature demonstration of creative decorating with garage sale finds will be given. Because of the bake sale the luncheon will begin a half hour earlier.

Special music guest will be Sherri Romani. The luncheon will conclude with speaker Mary Bohn from Springfield.

There will be a free nursery. Those wanting more information and to make reservations may call Renee (708)395-1281 or Tina (708)395-4834. Reservations by Thursday, June 14 essential.

Advisory board seeks opinions on park district

The Antioch Park Dist. Advisory Board, preparing to organize a campaign to pass a referendum to establish a park district in the Antioch area community, mailed out surveys to Antioch Twp. residents to evaluate the public's opinion on the issue.

"We are trying to measure public opinion on the idea of park districts," says Tom Shaughnessy, chairman of the Advisory Board. "We want to see which township areas would be most interested in a park district system."

The survey requests that residents reply with a convenient, postage-paid post card by June 8. People may also drop reply cards off at the village hall in Antioch.

School introduces 'Buddies'

At a Kindergarten Get Together held on Thursday, May 24 at Grass Lake School, Kindergarten Buddies, which was conceived by Judy Fechtner, was introduced to the 1990-1991 kindergarten initiates.

Kindergarten Buddies is a special program which pairs each of the 1990-1991 kindergarten members with a unique kindergarten member. A picture was taken of each pair and the picture was then given to the kindergarten as a friendly reminder.

On the first day of school, it is the eighth graders responsibility to meet their Kindergarten Buddy and help them over the rough edges of their first day of school.

The Kindergarten Get Together was held in the kindergarten room and its purpose was to introduce the young people and their parents to each other, their school, the class room, and Mrs. Rubash, their teacher.

Eight more vying for Little Miss Antioch

Little Miss Antioch applications just keep floating into the parks and recreation office. In fact, the deadline is June 8 at 5 p.m. so anyone interested must contact Theresa at (708)395-2160.

Something new this year includes the possibility to compete at the Lake County Fair. The 1990 Little Miss Antioch winner will compete at the county level, July 26.

Miss Antioch applications are coming in a little slow. Several young ladies have taken applications, yet have not returned with them. Remember, the date of the pageant this year is June 23 at 6:30 p.m.

New Little Miss Antioch contestants include: Andrea Gross, Sandi Ellen, Danielle Stahl, Jessica Jacobs, Jennifer Robinson, Lindsey Ogden, and Heather Zeman.

Birthday Wishes

Once again I will begin this column with an enormous birthday greetings' list. The following people will be celebrating birthdays during the month of June.

Please join me in wishing then all a very happy June birthday: Angela Burke, Jennifer Burke, Jenny Cardis, Rich Cheterbok, Danny Clarke, Laura Falcone, Margaret Frayer, Nicky Galdine, Vinnie Galdine, Craig Hancock, Cheryl Henning, Clarissa Kasprzak, John Kasprzak, Greg Laube, Kjersten Martens, Heather Mastalerz, Holly Mastalerz, Marlene Olsen, Bill Parenti, Bertha Schmehl, Pat Sherwood, Chris Smoody, De De Schnehl, Jana Strahan, Justin Ward, and last but not least a special June 26th birthday wish is extended to Darlene Olenick (who is an awful lot older than I am). Have fun on your special day — everyone!!

Cameron grows up

Speaking of getting older, I sure had fun chit chatting with Cameron Martz the other day at the Village Hall. However, when I discovered Cameron's age it, in turn, aged me drastically. It seems like yesterday that I remember Cameron roaming the halls of Grass Lake School and here he is all grown up and an employee of the Village of Antioch.

I am sure some of you know who Cameron is and often see him in the Antioch parades as he drives along in his re-conditioned old fashioned car. Restoring old cars is a hobby Cameron enjoys with his dad, Bob Martz, and his friend Pat Sikorski. It was nice talking with you, Cameron. Keep up the good work for the Village and I'll see you in an about town as you drive around sporting your latest renovated car.

Engagement

One more Grass Lake area resident who has grown into a fine young man is Richard Lengvenis. Richard is the son of Harry and Sue Lengvenis and they are excited over his recent engagement to Barbara Sheen of Antioch. Barbara and Richard will be married on Aug. 4 in a ceremony at St. Peter's church. After the honeymoon, they plan to set up residence in the Antioch area.

Antioch Rescue Squad

Did you all receive the recent letter from the Antioch Rescue Squad reminding us of all the fine services they provide for us in time of need. I did, and I just want to remind you the Squad is manned by volunteers and is aided in funds by individual contributions. Please show the Rescue Squad support by contributing as much as you can to them. Even a $5 donation helps! If everyone in Antioch contribution. Please give what you can to support our Rescue Squad.

Proposed Park District
Antiochians, please take a moment to read over the information recently mailed to you concerning the proposed Antioch Community Park District. I got a lot of positive information from the brochure. Also, please fill out the enclosed stamped post card and mail it back to the Park District Board as soon as possible. I

If you have any of the following items to donate to the rummage sale, please drop them off at the school from Friday, June 15, through Wednesday, June 20. "Clean usable clothes, furniture, dishes, collectable, antiques, etc." The chair people of the sale are Claudette Skvarce and Lee McKinney. See you there, remember I like garage sales and rummage sales!!!

Graduation

On Sunday, May 20, Tricia Olenick graduated from a school "somewhere in Kenosha, WI" (I was told was Tricia's Grass Lake and Antioch High School classmate, Laurie Cheterbok. The bus boy was Laurie's brother Rich Cheterbok. It was truly a special day as we all congratulated Tricia and also wished Mary and Mike much success with Nolans. As I write this tidbit, I am reminded how quickly time passes. It seems like yesterday that Tricia and Laurie were in kindergarten at GLS with my third daughter, Karen. I guess time flies when you are having fun — or getting old!

Breakfast

On Monday, May 21, the Grass Lake School staff hosted an appreciation breakfast for the TAP volunteers and room mothers. A tasty menu was prepared by the head cook, Gayle Milowski, and assistant cook, Sandy Gilday. Joan Larson and Helen Olechny assisted in the setting of the tables and setting up a serving tray of coffee and sweets to enjoy. It was a nice ending to a cooperative year of the TAP volunteers, room mothers and teachers all working together for the benefit of the school.

Camp Crayon

The Camp Crayon program offered by the Antioch Park and Recreation Department celebrated class graduations on Monday, May 21 and Tuesday, May 22.

About fifty parents and relatives were on hand each day to enjoy the program put on by all of the students and to see the five year olds receive their diplomas. They wore red gowns and caps trimmed with white collars and white tassels. Afterwards, the students and teachers enjoyed a picnic lunch and exchanged a lot of hugs to enjoy the summer and the year ahead in kindergarten for the graduates.

Honors for Harris

Jenny Harris, a graduating senior at ACHS, received all conference honors in softball and all academic in softball. She was also nominated for senior girl athlete and in turn won the senior girl athlete's award for 1989-90. She received a plaque and a $400 scholarship. In addition to being a fine athlete, Jenny also accomplished high academic achievement as she maintained a 4.0 grade point average throughout her four years at ACHS. Jenny also graduated Grass Lake grade school with honors prior to entering ACHS.

Jenny was inducted into the National Honor Society. Congratulations, Jenny, your family is very proud of you as are your many friends from the Grass Lake community. Good luck in college, I am sure you will be successful there too.

Hometown Goodies

think it would be nice to have improved and extended programs for not only our youths, but also for young adults and senior citizens. So take a moment to share your views on a Park District with the Park's Advisory Board.

Rummage Sales

If you enjoy rummage sales, circle the dates June 21, 22, and 23 on your calendars as St. Peter's School in Antioch will be holding a rummage sale on that Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. The hours of the sale will be 8:30 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, and until 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Library to close June 11-16

The week of June 11-16 the Antioch Public Library will be closed. The staff will take an inventory of its holdings.

The library has over 55,000 items. The smaller collections such as cassettes, records, pro-books, videos, parenting, reference and the Antioch historical collection will be inventoried while the library is open, but due to large holdings of adult fiction, nonfiction, and juvenile books, the library must close for a week.

The bookdrops will remain open for the public's convenience.

Pine Hill

removed to make the grade, was used to fill the lowlands and wetlands, which is where the problem homes are located.

Shineflug said the village has been withhold building permits until adequate progress has been made in repairing the homes. In addition, the village board is considering cashing a letter of credit, which would make money available to finish public improvements. Shineflug said cashing the letter of credit would not be much aid to the homeowners, since the money is for the public areas of the development.

"They (Northfield) made commitments to make public improvements by July 31, but that's only for the public areas," said Tim Wells, Antioch village administrator.

The village met with Northfield Development, the developers of Pine Hill Lakes, this week.

"We hope to hear how they will correct the problems and who will be in charge," said Shineflug.

"I think we'd like to know generally where they stand," said Wells.

Problems experienced by the residents of Pine Hill Lakes include:

- cracked and sinking foundations in four houses;
- a cracked foundation in one house;
- flooding;
- sewage back-up;
- driveway complaints on nine lots.

There may be some problems for Northfield's needed repairs, because its bank has recently requested a reorganization of the company and may not continue its service if not happy with the situation.

"The bank has requested that they do some reorganization, then it's up to the bank if they're not satisfied," said Wells.

One neighbor of the Pine Hill Lakes development, Jim Hironimus, also a biology teacher at Highland Park High School, said the environmental impact on the area has been profound.

"It's changing the habitat. It's not like it was before," he said. "I'm trying to preserve this area."

Hironimus, along with Lake County Dist. 4 Board member Suzi Schmidt, said the water is in danger from the nearby development.

"Whenever you do a development, whenever there's people who want to fertilize their lawns, it also fertilizes the lakes," said Schmidt. "The environment has been severely impacted over there."

Schmidt, who opposed the development from the beginning, will be asking the Army Corps of Engineers, which has jurisdiction over the wetlands, to reevaluate the situation at Pine Hill Lakes.

Hironimus claims that Northfield Development filled in more than the allotted one acre of wetlands at Pine Hill Lakes, and the "soil settling conditions" described by Wells are may be due to this. He blames the Corps of Engineers for the problems of the development.

"I would say absolutely (the Army Corps of Engineers) is responsible," said Hironimus.

"This is a crime," said Schmidt. "It's a crime of the environment, the people that bought land in there, and the current residents."

"Some of these people, this is their whole life savings, and now their homes are cracking and sinking," Schmidt said.

Pre-Pine Hill

Pine Hill Lakes before the developing began. One neighbor to the area, Jim Hironimus, said the development filled in a large amount of the swampy wetlands area (center) and is currently threatening the ecology of the area. Residents of Pine Hill Lakes living in the now-filled area are having problems with their homes sinking and cracking.

FOOT FACTS From The FOOT DOCTOR

Dr. Winters

Dr. Griff J. Winters & Assoc.

Specializing in Reconstructive Foot & Ankle Surgery

PLANTAR WARTS

Warts are caused by a virus infection and are often mistaken as corns and calluses. Warts on the bottom of the foot penetrate deep under the skin like a mushroom, because of pressure in standing. Unlike corns and calluses, the center encapsulated area usually has rust-colored spots that are small blood vessels and nerves that supply the wart. For this reason warts are more painful with side to side pinching.

Warts are contagious to susceptible people and are usually found in adolescents.

If the plantar wart is small and discovered early, prescribed chemical agents often times are all that are needed. For large or resistant warts, we often times use Laser surgery that gives good results with minimal discomfort. This is done on an out-patient basis and the patient loses no time off his feet.

If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to reroute your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today!

FACTS ABOUT BUNIONS

Both men and women can develop a bunion. A bunion is a swelling or enlargement of the large toe joint on the inner side of the foot. The deformity usually develops gradually and continues to develop until it will cause pain from shoes rubbing against the enlarged bone. There may be swelling, redness and a deep aching pain associated with the bunion joint causing a bursitis.

Bunions develop from a weakness in the bone structure of your foot. Because the instability of the bones and ligaments which form various joints and arches in your foot, the joints have a tendency to move out of proper alignment. There is also a strong hereditary tendency to develop this deformity. Bunions deformities can be seen in very young children as well as the adult population. Bunions are not caused by improper shoe gear, but are significantly aggravated by improperly fitting shoes which place an unusual degree of pressure at the bunion joint. As the bunion becomes more severe, the joint moves out of proper alignment and eventually arthritis will damage the joint. Several treatment options are available which help in controlling the cause of the bunion deformity so that symptoms do not arise or become more severe. These include alteration of shoe gear, prescription orthotics.

If the bunion deformity becomes progressively worse, surgery may be recommended. If you are suffering from this condition, feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a no-cost consultation to discuss your condition.

Geo-Karis' condemnation bill passes Senate, House next

State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) has won Senate approval for a bill requiring approval of two-thirds of Lake County Board members before the Forest Preserve Dist. can force owners of private property to sell their land.

"The present law allowing a condemnation by a simple majority vote is not in the best interests of Lake County, because it allows political gamesmanship in a procedure where common sense and reason should prevail," Sen. Geo-Karis said. "Condemnation is the forced taking of someone's property, and it should be rarely and judiciously used."

Sen. Geo-Karis said her legislation specifies that if the forest preserve wishes to acquire land in an unincorporated area of Lake County by condemnation, it must obtain the county board's consent by resolution and approval of at least two-thirds of the total number entitled to sit on the board.

Sen. Geo-Karis said her legislation would encourage the forest preserve to negotiate for land instead of resorting to condemnation. The bill now goes to the House for consideration.

ANTIOCH AUTO PARTS

Reliably Serving The Community For 27 Years

With so many auto parts stores in this area, why in the world would so many mechanics, as well as motorists recommend ANTIOCH AUTO PARTS so highly? The reasons are a large and professionally maintained stock of quality auto supplies and friendly personal service.

Their management and employees are knowledgeable in auto maintenance. And with the rates so high on auto repair, it generally makes good sense to perform such maintenance as tune ups yourself.

They feature new and rebuilt auto parts for foreign and domestic vehicles on a wholesale or retail basis. Visit their Antioch location at Rtes. 83 & 173, or phone (708) 395-3660 or 1-800-843-3211.

The competent personnel at ANTIOCH AUTO PARTS realize that automotive competition is fierce and therefore, go out of their way to assure complete satisfaction.

The writers of this "Messages From Your Business Community" Section give ANTIOCH AUTO PARTS our complete recommendation. See them first for substantial savings.

As consumers become more aware in terms of the environmental and ecological impact of refuse disposal and containment they realize that a need for proper collection and disposal does exist.

In this area, WASTE MANAGEMENT OF LAKE COUNTY is leading the way in both facets of disposal service. Located in Antioch at 22333 W. Hwy 173, phone 395-2020, they specialize in industrial, commercial and residential refuse removal. They are the area's largest provider of residential recycling service. They have equipment to offer competent and reliable services throughout this entire area. Complete consultation services are available.

WASTE MANAGEMENT OF LAKE COUNTY features commercial, institutional and industrial container service in several sizes, as well as construction site service and service to the trades. Industrial compactors are available to industries on either a purchase or lease program. WASTE MANAGEMENT also offers temporary fencing, office trailers, residential cart service and Port-O-Let portable toilets.

But, of course, the true picture in rubbish removal doesn't end with collection. WASTE MANAGEMENT OF LAKE COUNTY makes efforts to remain current in the field of disposal as well. They have kept abreast all the modern methods of disposal designed to help improve our environment.

SALEM AUTO SERVICE

Tim Garwood - Owner

Advanced automotive technology necessitates a more professional approach to auto repairs and servicing. Locally, SALEM AUTO SERVICE is a recommended auto repair center where your guarantee of satisfaction lies in the fact that the owner, Tim Garwood personally supervises every job.

Their shop is located at Highway 83 in Salem, phone 843-3636, and is fully-equipped with the tools and machinery to render total auto service. Technicians employed here offer prompt, professional service including electronic tune ups, oil changes, electrical service, brake, shock and exhaust system repairs, engine and transmission service, etc. In fact, all of your preventive maintenance and minor repairs can be handled at this one convenient location. With their extensive knowledge and experience, they can perform repairs on all makes and models of foreign and domestic cars and light duty trucks.

The writers of this "Messages From Your Business Community" Section are pleased to recommend SALEM AUTO SERVICE. Whether you are in need of preventive maintenance or minor repairs, you can rest assured that you will receive the best in service at competitive prices when you place your confidence in the pros at SALEM AUTO SERVICE.

Serving The Area For 43 Years

Construction companies both large and small in this area have learned to rely on THELEN-WILMOT to provide them with approved ready-mix concrete and aggregates.

A locally operated concern, THELEN-WILMOT has built an excellent reputation not only for the quality of the products they provide, but for the unequalled quality of their service, as well. They have based the success of their business on the theory that good customer relations means continued customer support and the fact that their theory is accurate is evidenced by their ever growing list of satisfied customers.

Orders from homeowners needing a few yards of ready-mix concrete are as welcome as larger orders from builders and concrete contractors. You'll find the quality of the service is the same regardless of the size of the order.

The writers of this "Messages From Your Business Community" Section are proud to direct the attention of construction firms and homeowners to the services and products of THELEN-WILMOT. They have two convenient locations to serve you: in Antioch at 28955 W. Rte. 173, phone (708) 395-3313; and in Wilmet on Hwy. C., phone (414) 862-2324.

MCL resolution

NORTH CHICAGO—The North Chicago City Council has passed a resolution expressing "strong displeasure" with a group attempting to block MCL Developers from building a Harbor Club and marina on the site of the old wire mill on the North Chicago lakefront. The group, which calls itself the Lake Michigan Federation, charges that there is lead, cyanide, arsenic and other contaminants on the site. The resolution claims that the group wants the project halted for personal and private reasons and urges that the regulatory agencies (the EPA and the Army Corps of Engineers) be allowed "to do their jobs" in assessing the environmental impact of the site.

Hire administrator

LAKE ZURICH — Lake Zurich trustees hired a new village administrator Monday. Scott Ratter, 41, of South Haven, Mich., formerly of Clarendon Hills, will assume duties of overseeing a $16.7 million village budget and 130 employees in mid-July. He was chosen from four finalists, out of a field of about 140 applicants. He is currently city manager in South Haven, a summer resort town. He was selected by a three-member ad hoc committee including Mayor James Kay, Trustees Gary Winchester and Milt Faurot. They chose Ratter for his experience and ability to deal with staff, residents and board members. Faurot, who is a village administrator himself, in Lake in the Hills, abstained from the final vote to avoid a possible conflict of interest, but favors the decision. Ratter and his wife, Sandy, have two children.

New smoking limits

MUNDELEIN—To comply with state and federal clean air standards, smoking will be banned in all but three places at the 60-year-old Mundelein village hall. They are the downstairs women's rest room, downstairs employee lounge and the mayor's office. All smokers in village hall are women, including the mayor, except one man.

Turns over study

GURNEE—The results of a wetlands study commissioned by the Village of Gurnee for the proposed site of Ehlers & Juhrend Enterprises' proposed cement recycling plant are now in the hands of Park City officials. "Based on the fact that the (Gurnee) Village Board has already taken a position on it, we are forwarding it to the City of Park City for appropriate action. It's in their hands at this time, and because this is a potential for pending litigation, we think it is inappropriate to comment any further at this time," Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton said in response to public queries at Monday's board meeting.

Club opens doors

LIBERTYVILLE—Another male bastion is about to fall. After 40 years the Libertyville-Mundelein Men's Garden Club may get its first female member. The club, which once had 175 members, now has half that number. Applications have been taken by prospective members, which may show up at the Monday, May 11, monthly meeting.

Deputy faces firing

INGLESIDE—A Lake County sheriff's deputy, David DePauw of Ingleside, has been charged with battery and cruelty to a child. The 37-year-old man is facing criminal charges for allegedly beating his 2-year-old stepson when the boy got sick at the dinner table. The child had scratches, bruises and abrasions over his entire body. Lake County Sheriff Clinton Grinnell is working to dismiss DePauw from his job. DePauw was arrested on May 21 and released on his own recognizance on $30,000 bond.

End of an era

ROUND LAKE—The Molitor Standard station and car wash at the corner of Rte. 134 and Nippersink Rd. will soon be torn down to make way for an Amoco station. Round Lake Mayor James Lumber lamented the loss of the last full-service gas station in Round Lake, calling it a "sad note" but saying it was a sign of the times. Amoco is reportedly signing a 20-year lease for the property with the Molitors. The old station will be torn down, probably on July 2, but the car wash will remain. The new Amoco station will include a

Concert group ends

LIBERTYVILLE—After 16 years the Libertyville-Mundelein Concert Society has voted to disband. The decision was made at the last of five annual programs—a musical scholarship competition for 11 youths. Board members who are getting older and declining attendance of approximately 120 persons at programs led to the decision. The group, which is financially sound, hopes some other group can take over the organization.

Smyth hearing

GRAYSLAKE—Supporters of Avon Center School Principal Edna Smyth are expected to attend a public hearing on her status for the 1990-91 school year next week. The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. June 14 at Grayslake Junior High School. Smyth has issued a statement detailing a three-month discussion with Grayslake Dist. 46 Supt. David Duffy and Board of Education President Don Steffen. Smyth said she had withheld comment until now to avoid an impact on the educational process.

Special grads

FOX LAKE—Nine handicapped students, one of the largest groups to receive eighth grade diplomas in the Lake County Special Education District (SEDOL), will take part in graduation ceremonies at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 10, at Stanton School. "We regard them as our kids even though they hail from a number of communities around the county and we want them to be part of our ceremonies," declared Principal William Lomas. The children are mentally handicapped and behaviorally disordered.

Grayslake board changes

The Village of Grayslake made it official Monday night.

The board changed the time and day of its regular meetings from Monday to Tuesday.

The board, beginning June 19, will meet the first and third Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at Grayslake Village Hall.

"It is a night when we can all make it," Grayslake Mayor Marv Smith said in explaining the move.

The move to Tuesday may make it possible for Trustee Phil Harris to attend more meetings. Harris has been unable to attend meetings because of job conflicts.

In action Monday, the board approved College Trail development's phase one. It will consist of 149 single-family units.

A variance was granted to Platford Corp. and authorization was given to meeting date to Tuesday

replace a totalled squad car at a cost of $13,469.

There was no discussion of leaf burning. Trustee Pat Carey supports a total ban on burning, but that issue will likely be brought up at the next meeting.

In another matter, Smith said he has not decided yet on how to handle Trustee Sue Stricker's position when she resigns next month. Her husband accepted a police chief's position in May.

Smith said there has been little interest shown in the soon to be open trustee post. He said options are to appoint someone or to leave the seat vacant. Stricker was elected last year.

A letter was read from Lexington Homes thanking the village and Village Manager Mike Ellis for their cooperation in Lexington's just approved subdivision.

Election board finds COD innocent of charges

Earl Johnson and Frank Sullivan won a decision before the Illinois Elections Board regarding an election complaint.

The complaint was filed by Sue Herbes, sister of Jack Martin of the Lake County Republican organization. Originally, a hearing officer found for the complainant, but later the full board reversed the ruling, Johnson said.

The complaint charges that Johnson and Sullivan's Curb Over Development violated election laws by distributing a flier asking for membership. The hearing officer found for the petitioner Herbes.

Johnson, a Grayslake

resident, said Martin and his forces are "trying to destroy myself, Sullivan and COD," he said.

Sullivan has retained Atty. Robert Long of Antioch to represent him.

Johnson said the literature said, "how can you support these candidates listed by the Board of Relators."

He pointed out that COD had, in its campaign disclosure form, some $800 while the pro development group had some $357,000 at their disposal.

Johnson said his group must have had some impact on the development community.

Lexington files lawsuit

Lexington Homes has filed a lawsuit against the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

The suit contends that without a vote by a majority of the board, the forest preserve's lawfirm of Morrison and Associates sent notices to Riverwoods and Deerfield stating an intention to acquire Thorngate Country Club.

"There was no majority vote to purchase, only a majority to continue," James Gordon, attorney for Lexington said.

He said those letters were sent in March, freezing annexation. Lexington Homes owns the 146-acres. Preliminary motions in 19th circuit court are expected Monday with a trial date in July.

Riverwoods residents have appeared at the Lake County

Forest Preserve meetings, asking for the acquisition of the golf course.

Last week the Land Acquisition and Preservation Committee voted 7-4 to support a moratorium on land purchases. The decision requires all the land which has been already designated for purchase, but not yet actually purchased, plus the ones which are now up for board consideration June 8. These include Thorngate Country Club near Deerfield and a 450 acre section of the Cuneo Estate. In addition, the committee will review properties which meet the district's guidelines for potential preserves in order to protect environmentally critical areas.

Add 2 racing dates

Two additional racing performances have been granted to the Geneva Lakes Kennel Club by the Wisconsin Racing Board. Evening greyhound races are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, June 11 and 12, and offer free grandstand admission, and free parking.

The Monday, June 11

performances begins at 7:30 p.m., with gates open at 6 p.m. The Tuesday, June 12 races are also evening performances, and result in a doubleheader for the day, with a matinee scheduled for 1 p.m.

For seating and dining reservations call (414)728-8000 or 1(800)477-4552.

All aboard

American Boat Charters and the Village of Fox Lake held a ribbon cutting ceremony to kick off American Boat Charters' Fox Lake tours. The company will be docked at the McDonald's on Rte. 12 in Fox Lake. Present were (from left): Marvin Birkhoff, general manager of McDonald's; Sherry Doyle, director of the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce; Sandy Yost, executive secretary of the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce; Frank Meier, mayor of Fox Lake; Kathy and Jim Miller of American Boat Charters; and Skipper, the Fox Lake Chamber mascot.

Sewer gaff a lulu

Over the years, the Lake County Dept. of Transportation (formerly the Lake County Highway Dept.) has acquired a well-earned reputation for reliability and accuracy. Well, no one is perfect. That about describes the predicament the department finds itself in connection with a storm sewer project on Washington St. between Grayslake and Round Lake Park.

Members of the Highland Lake Property Owners Assn. consider the nearly complete sewer job a colossal blunder. They're not far off the mark.

What happened is that the department thought the sewers would be emptying rainwater into the outlet of the recreational lake surrounded by fine homes. Instead, the sewers were dumping into the inlet of the small lake. At a hastily called meeting, association members quickly decided that their lake was on the verge of being destroyed overnight.

Their course of action included the filing on an injunction to enjoin the department from further sewer construction work pending an investigation. Department engineers replied with a collective "whoops" even though work wasn't halted until the end of the day. Highway officials admitted that incorrect data led them to design the project to empty storm water into the inlet instead of the outfall as they had intended which would have put the lake out of harm.

With a court ordered breather at hand, elected officials have interceded with orders for the engineers to go back to their drawing boards. Most logical solution to the imbroglio is for the county to purchase enough adjacent land to build a retention basin of sufficient size to retain expected drainage so natural purification action can take place before the water is released into Highland Lake.

It's amazing that such a goof up could occur. The only explanation is that officialdom still hasn't faced up to the reality that precautions are vital to insure that Lake County's lakes and wetlands never are put in jeopardy. The problem pure and simple is that the mentality to make sure backyards are kept dry and water doesn't stand on roadways is more important than ecological considerations. When will our officials learn that environmental considerations must not be ignored?

Highland Lake is unique in that it is the county's highest lake since it is situated astride the dividing line between the DesPlaines River and Chain O'Lakes-Fox River drainage basins.

Letters To The Editor

Protect property rights

Editor:

Thanks to the mayors of our municipalities for bringing an important issue before the citizens, the means by which the Lake County Forest Preserve acquires some of its land: No one is against open space. When property owners are forced to sell their land at a price determined by the Forest Preserve, this is clearly an infringement of their rights to own property. What kind of society values open space acquired by denying property owners the right to choose when and to whom their land should be sold? We need to support our municipalities in their attempt to protect property owners' rights. Open space should be acquired from owners willing to sell.

Phyllis Steffan
Wildwood

Grayslake subverting district

Editor:

The Rollins Savannah (Picket Fence Farm) was designated to be purchased by the Lake County Forest Preserve District on April 29, 1988. This action was taken only after a detailed professional staff reviewed and enthusiastic support from the residents of Grayslake and Third Lake.

The original site was for 1,340 acres of land in Avon Township, and now after purchasing 986 acres, more than 75 percent of the parcel, the Village of Grayslake want to remove a 90 acre parcel along Drury Lane and Rte. 83, the original western boundaries. Grayslake instead would put 248 single family homes on 7,500 square foot lots and add 10 acres of commercial zoning; this in place of maintaining the original boundaries and keeping the parcel in tact for proper management.

The entire parcel represents a unique, once in a lifetime opportunity for our area. The site (one of only three left in the county consisting of over 1,200 acres) is currently undivided by roads and development, diverse natural resource features, excellent management boundaries, and miles of scenic highway right-of-way; all of which will provide a framework for a regionally significant landscape and wildlife habitat restoration project.

The success of this project, to live up to its immense potential as planned, lies in maintaining the boundary integrity as was originally designated for purchase.

The importance of this 90 acre parcel to the Forest Preserve is to keep the entire parcel in tact and have it remain undivided by roads and development. This will allow the entire site to function as unfragmented ecologically stable habitat, necessary for the proper management of diverse wildlife, wetlands and forested areas. To destroy this entire parcel, as the Village of Grayslake would do just to add 248 more homes to the already 3,000 added through recent zoning changes in the Village, would be unforgivable.

Let's do it right. Let the Lake County Forest Preserve proceed as originally planned, for the future of Grayslake and Lake County.

Heroes paid their dues

Editor:

I am 46 years old. I was two years old before I met my Dad. I am the daughter of one of the members of Antioch VFW Post 4551. My Dad was an MP in the U.S. Army during World War II. He drove a motorcycle through many invasions, the exact number I can't remember. He speaks of it once in a while, with a tear in his eye, and a proudness I can't explain. They fought the Japanese, and the Germans. Remember?

Take a trip over to that building in North Chicago. There's still some guys in there from World War I. You should feel shame for putting these heroes that fought for us and our country, through all the problems and worries they have been put through recently. You should be behind these men and helping them.

Remember what this organization stands for and is made up of. These heroes should be rallied round and instead they are

Tax question hounds grads in new decade

by BILL SCHROEDER

Cold War tensions a thing of the past, what kind of world will the Class of 1990 be entering?

With the escalating federal deficit continuing to disrupt economic stability of the nation, it's doubtful that the "kinder, gentler" nation envisioned by President Bush during his campaign will be achieved, at least in the immediate future.

The harsh reality is that the deficit is eating into the moral fiber and vitality of the nation much like rampant inflation undermined confidence of America in the late 1970's and led to the defeat of President Carter.

Besides inheriting a nation barreling along the road to bankruptcy, the Class of 1990 will be entering adulthood in a society that rapidly is destroying the environment because of the lifestyles we live. People now are fearing pollution like they feared nuclear war two generations ago.

Not a pretty picture. The bright side, and perhaps our salvation, is the fact that members of the Class of 1990 understand better than their elders that America now is paying the price in "stagflation" and deprivation for the follies of the past. Even in their youth, they have learned the lesson that "bigger is not better." Only better is better.

Sacrifice in the face of crisis is an American tradition. Once again, we think Americans are ready to sacrifice by paying higher taxes if they can be convinced that their sacrifices will go to reduce the horrendous deficit that has the Class of 1990 in debt up to the ears even before the graduates begin productive careers.

National leaders can inspire the Class of 1990 with a message that, yes, the U.S. budget can be cut, and yes, your savings will be protected by prudent governmental spending. We're told a $30-$40 billion dent in the deficit is achievable. Let's get started, America.

Is there a politician with the courage to call for a tax increase, albeit temporary, to protect America against recession and insure opportunity for the Class of 1990? A message needs to be sent to America that our system works.

Take a Long Grove walk

Editor:

I live in the town of Long Grove, a quaint, turn-of-the-century community that is being bombarded from all sides by "progress." The latest onslaught appears to be the proposed northerly extension of Rte. 53, right through the middle of my village.

The governor unveiled a $1.3 billion state road building plan that includes $1.5 million for preliminary engineering studies of this project, if my facts are correct.

I'm an elementary school teacher in Lake County. My class recently completed an in depth study of our environment, particularly related to Earth Day and Earth Week.

But Earth Week is over, and it looks like Rte. 53 northbound is a feat accompli. Please do not misunderstand my position. I believe we need to improve of our roadways. But can't that be done in a more fiscally and ecologically responsible way?

Shining with ambition and promise, members of the Class of 1990 are our best and brightest hope. They need a chance. That's the best offer we can give them. Once again we're calling on youth to sacrifice, only this time it's with their dollars, not their lives

REMEMBERING---The obituary columns reported the deaths last week of two great friends of west Lake County who hold fond memories for this reporter. U.S. Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church, 97, died in her Evanston home. Elliott Frank, 87, former chairman of the Illinois Tollway Authority and a partner in the famous Picket Fence Farm, Grayslake, died at a rest home in Florida where he had resided in recent years.

Mrs. Church was our representative in Congress for 12 years, but her acquaintanceship went back to the 1940's when her late husband, Ralph, was the Congressman for this locality. Mr. Frank "adopted" west Lake County has his home base after retiring as vice president of the LaSalle Street Bank, maintaining close ties with civic leaders and politicians as he advanced the cause for good highways as the basis of a sound economy. His hobby was raising black Angus beef cattle.

Both Mrs. Church and Mr. Frank associated with the great and near great all their lives, but they maintained a down-to-earth approach to life that always made their small town friends feel at ease---and important. Over the years, I've noticed that seems to be a quality shared by all successful people. Both Mrs. Church and Elliott Frank shared the attribute of making everyone they associated with feel as big as they were.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY---Pop may be playing landscaper the rest of the summer the way the weatherman is playing tricks on us this year. The only way I'll avoid getting the rest of my bedding plants in the ground before Labor Day is the fact that the garden shops will run out of stock before I get there. I regard it a red letter day when I can shed the work clothes for golf togs, but as of now that day might never come this year.

I have invited Governor Thompson and his family to visit my family in Long Grove before any more precious time goes by. Spring in Long Grove is breathtakingly beautiful. I would like to take a walk to show them where the proposed Rte. 53 extension would be, and the natural beauty that would be destroyed forever in its path.

In reviewing all of the teacher supplementary materials that were provided me during our Earth Week studies, I was struck by a thought that seemed to repeat itself over and over as I read:

In order to be a responsible futurist, one needs to be a respectable traditionalist at the same time.

Neither quality is present in the case of the planning for Rte. 53.

Reform campaign financing

OFF THE WALL

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

PARTY OF TODAY—As suggested years ago, the Democrats may just become the "environmentalist party" in Lake County. It is a sure-fire way to win followers in a county where political figures are often identified as "pro development" or "open spacers."

To test the environmental waters the party has slated a County Board candidate in Dist. 6 (Wauconda, Fremont, Ela and Cuba Twp.) guaranteed to win some votes.

Elizabeth "Beth" Geuzendam, operator of a horse boarding farm in rural Wauconda Twp., is the party's selected standard bearer for the fall election. She's an outspoken open spacer. And she's not afraid to speak. The Democrats have promised financial help for the fall.

This means the spring GOP primary winners, Robert Grever of Lake Zurich and Colin McRae of Mundelein, will have to spend some money between now and November.

MUSICAL POLITIKING—Musical chairs is being played by both the Republicans and Democrats. Both are filling vacant precinct committeeman posts with candidates who didn't make it in March or were too lazy to run.

Most everyone knows Robert Neal, the former GOP party county chairman, got just such a post in North Chicago—a long way from his home in Newport Twp. Another defeated Republican committeeman, Robert Grever, was named to a committee post in Ela Twp. close to where he lives.

The Democrats are playing the game, too. Highland Park Mayor Daniel Pierce now has his own precinct in the same city, County Board member Sam Payne got one in his hometown of Zion and County Board member Debra Halas of Waukegan was given a precinct in her backyard.

There's more to come!

JUST WAITING—It's the waiting game for Robert Streicher, director of the Lake County Building Dept.

Last month he presented his case in Circuit Court against the Lake County Health Dept. to build a luxury home in rural Lake Villa Twp. He planned to move in last fall, but he couldn't get a septic tank waiver.

Now, both sides are waiting to see who's right. The Health Department wants Streicher to obey the law like everyone else. Streicher, of course, thinks the laws he daily enforces are for everyone else.

WHERE'S THE FIRE?—Libertyville's new police chief, William McCormick, is also the village's assistant fire chief and has been for two years.

As a matter of fact, he has been a fireman longer than he has been a Libertyville policeman. He joined the Libertyville Fire Dept. as a paid-on-call volunteer in 1965 while a Lake County deputy sheriff. "I responded in off-duty hours every time the siren blew," he said. Today they're called with pagers.

During his nine years with the sheriff's department and 21 on the Libertyville Police Dept., McCormick has remained true to the fire department. That starts with six hours of ongoing fire training each month. Over the years he rose from firefighter to engineer, chief engineer, lieutenant and captain.

McCormick has even been on the fire department longer than his boss, Chief John Reitman. That kid has only been around 21 years.

OVERHEARD: It's all in the family for Colin Thacker, director of environmental health at the Lake County Health Dept. His wife, Susan, has the same title with the Racine Health Dept. and his daughter, Margie, is a sanitarian with the Baltimore County Dept. of Environmental Health. To fill the November ballot, the Democratic party have slated Lake Bluff office manager Maurine Moore (no relation to party Chairman Betty Ann Moore or Dist. 5 County Board member Andrea Moore) for the County Board in Dist. 5.

money to pay for expensive television commercials to attack each other with 30 second ads.

The only way out of this is to change the rules about how we run campaigns. We need serious campaign finance reform. We need to set tough spending limits, abolish Political Action Committees, reduce the cost of television and, most important, provide public financing, so that our elected officials don't spend all their time talking to big shots with big money and start feeling accountable to us for a change.

This year's Senate race is the ideal place to start. U.S. Sen. Paul Simon and Rep. Lynn Martin plan to spend up to $8 million each on this race. We have already seen the first round of commercials, and my guess is that it will get negative before too long (especially with the master of negative campaigning, Roger Ailes, handling Martin).

I think it is very significant that of the two candidates only Paul Simon supports campaign finance reform. He wants to reduce the importance of money in campaigns, get rid of PACs, and reduce the amounts candidates can spend. He wants a system that makes candidates accountable to ordinary voters, not the special interests. Martin opposes campaign finance reform and thinks the current system is just fine.

Locals threaten wetlands

It saddens me that despite the well-publicized on going loss of ecologically precious wetland (said tracts also being pivotal in flood control) short-term financial interest dictates the disposition of much of the remaining wetland.

Such callous privateering is certainly fueling the planned destruction of an 80 acre lagoon-marshland beauty, bordering Fairfield and Rollins Rds.

This tract (historically a wetland) has been placed out of reach of the Lake County Forest Preserve District by a legal maneuver of the mayor of Round Lake Heights and his supporters. Their game-plan is to bring in a passel of homes on this and a 90 acre semi-wetland farther east on Rollins Rd.

District trustees have suggested joining the 80 acre corner tract to the existing Grant Forest Preserve (just across Fairfield) by a pedestrian trail around the three lagoon waterfowl-sheltering eden. This is the last bit of trail accessible watery beauty left in northwest Lake County and should be added to the disappointingly small repository of tranquilizing recreational retreats available to northern Lake Countians. It should not be surrendered to the mercenary ministrations of a jeering pack of uncaring locals who dismissed the districts offer as misguided, and unfair to their long-standing dream of standing taller economically among the mini-kingdoms of the area.

But this scenic aquatic jewel should be set aside for the aesthetic, spiritual nourishment of the local populace. The quickening pace of commercial land acquisition (impacting 50-75 percent of remaining open land) makes imperative the preservation of as much open land as possible. Open-landers arise and shout a hosanna to Nature! Say no to callous, self-serving land exploitation and despoliation. Let beauty, tranquility, and eco-joy have their say, their way, their day!

Composting can be risky

Editor:

It's all too well known to all of us the disposal problem we are facing in Lake County, as well as in the rest of the state. I hope a decision to ban leaf burning is not made in haste. I feel that this option must be left open until a proven solution can be found. I for one still feel that burning yard waste is a very inexpensive, safe way to eliminate this garbage without taking up very scarce land-fill space. Until it is proven, I am not convinced that composting is the answer.

From what I have heard so far, composting is going to be rather expensive, up to $1.50 a bag in some areas. For those with large yards, or a lot of trees, this will be most expensive. Planning on making a compost pile of your own? Better be prepared for the hideous smell of the rotting debris of those hot, damp days, not to mention the bees, mice, and other uninvited guests they attract. I know, I had one. I feel that this is a greater health risk than burning leaves. I haven't seen a study yet that has put burning leaves in the top 100 health problems in the state of Illinois.

However, we cannot overlook those with health problems like asthma or allergies. How about a designated day/week (with perhaps one alternate rain-day) for burning leaves? This should keep everyone happy.

When this matter is put to a vote, I hope those officials don't close out this option until another inexpensive option is proven. I also hope they take a poll and listen to the majority and not a few loud spoken individuals in the minority!

Rowland's Equipment offers service with a smile

by CHRISTY PHARRIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Gary Adams, owner of Rowland's Equipment (a lawn equipment and service store), said he firmly believes that service with a smile is the way to do good business.

Adams started working in the lawn equipment business by pumping gas for his father's store in McHenry at the age of 10. He also learned to set up lawn mowers and eventually learned how to fix them.

After graduating from high school, Adams went to a community college in McHenry and received his associates degree in police science.

He became a volunteer fireman and worked for Rowland's Equipment as a mechanic. Adams said his goal was to one day own a store of his own.

It took him about eight years to work up to general manager of the store. At that point, Adams had the opportunity to buy the store. He grabbed it. He has owned Rowland's Equipment for a year and a half.

"You just have to have the guts and the opportunity to achieve your goals," he said. "My opportunity came up."

"Building a business involves taking a gamble and some sleepless nights," the entrepreneur said. "It's blood, sweat and tears."

Adams said he would like to open a second store sometime in the future. Those plans are still on the drawing board.

Like his father's business, Rowland's is family run. His wife is in charge of the books and his two daughters, ages 10 and 7, come in on Saturdays to file and clean. Two of his younger brothers also work for the store: one as a service mechanic and the other as a parts manager. Adams said he likes working with his family.

"It's fun," he said. "We can talk about work problems and relate to each other."

Although owning a business takes up much of his time, Adams said he realizes the importance of his family. He makes a point of attending his daughter's basketball or baseball practices and games.

Sunday is set aside as a family day, because the store is open six days a week. The Adams family use the day to go canoeing or any other activity that they can all do together.

"It is important to have that one day a week together," Adams said.

He also said that he would like to see the business stay in the family.

A toy chain saw complete with the Stihl logo sits on his desk, making the closeness of his family to his business evident. The toy was given to his daughter for her birthday and waited patiently to be repaired.

Most office desks have papers piled high. Adams said he comes into work at 5:30 a.m. to get the paperwork done before opening the store. He also stays after closing to look at trade-ins.

"Lots of time is spent behind the scenes," he said. Adams said he finds the long hours a strain, but rewarding. "I get a personal heartfelt satisfaction from building the business up," he said. "I feel proud when I see people using my equipment."

Adams has used his know-how and common sense to run Rowland's. Without any formal business training, he has had to rely on these assets.

"The main thing we've done is to give the customer attention," he said. "We're not doing a favor for the customer by being here. They are doing us a favor." Customers have gone out of their way to show their appreciation. One brought in doughnuts for the staff and another treated the employees to pizza.

Adams said he believes that steady help is the key. The customer gets to know the employees.

"Someone comes in and he feels good he came in," Adams said. "That's important. I take new employees under my wing and explain how I want things run." "Everyone gets to know how the entire store works," he said. "Whoever works at the sales counter will end up in the parts shop or in the show room."

Adams has a hands-on approach to his business. He works side by side with his employees to make sure that the customer is getting the best service. "I keep a handle on everything through daily personal contact with my employees," he said. "Maintaining a good attitude is important too."

Adams has expanded the store's hours and installed a computer system to give better service. He also brought in new lines of equipment and makes sure that parts are kept in stock. It's not all business though. "We always have time for a smile and a chat," he said.

Rowland's Equipment, 200 W. Northwest Hwy., Barrington, serves home owners as well as commercial operations. The store is open six days a week Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday until 7 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

? Are Employers Required to Offer Insurance?

A Question From The Illinois Chamber HELPLINE

Q. Must I offer medical insurance to my employees?

A. No. Currently, there is no Illinois or federal law that requires a company to have a medical insurance plan. If employers wish to provide health insurance they may do so. Insurance plans often serve as an incentive to attract employees and retain current workers.

IF EMPLOYERS WOULD LIKE MORE INFORMATION ON THIS AND OTHER CHAMBER SERVICES, CALL 312-372-7373.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Wall Street's history is filled with colorful characters, but few are more controversial than businessman Jay Gould.

In 1868 Gould became president of The Erie Railroad. The next year, he and his partner lead a Wall Street panic when they nearly cornered the gold market. To gain some favorable press coverage, Gould granted an interview to reporter George Crouch.

When the interview appeared in print, it was a disaster. Among other less flattering things, Gould was referred to as "the great gorilla of Wall Street."

Rather than retallating, Gould hired Crouch as the Erie's public relations manager. And Crouch used his position as a reporter to crank out favorable publicity for Gould.

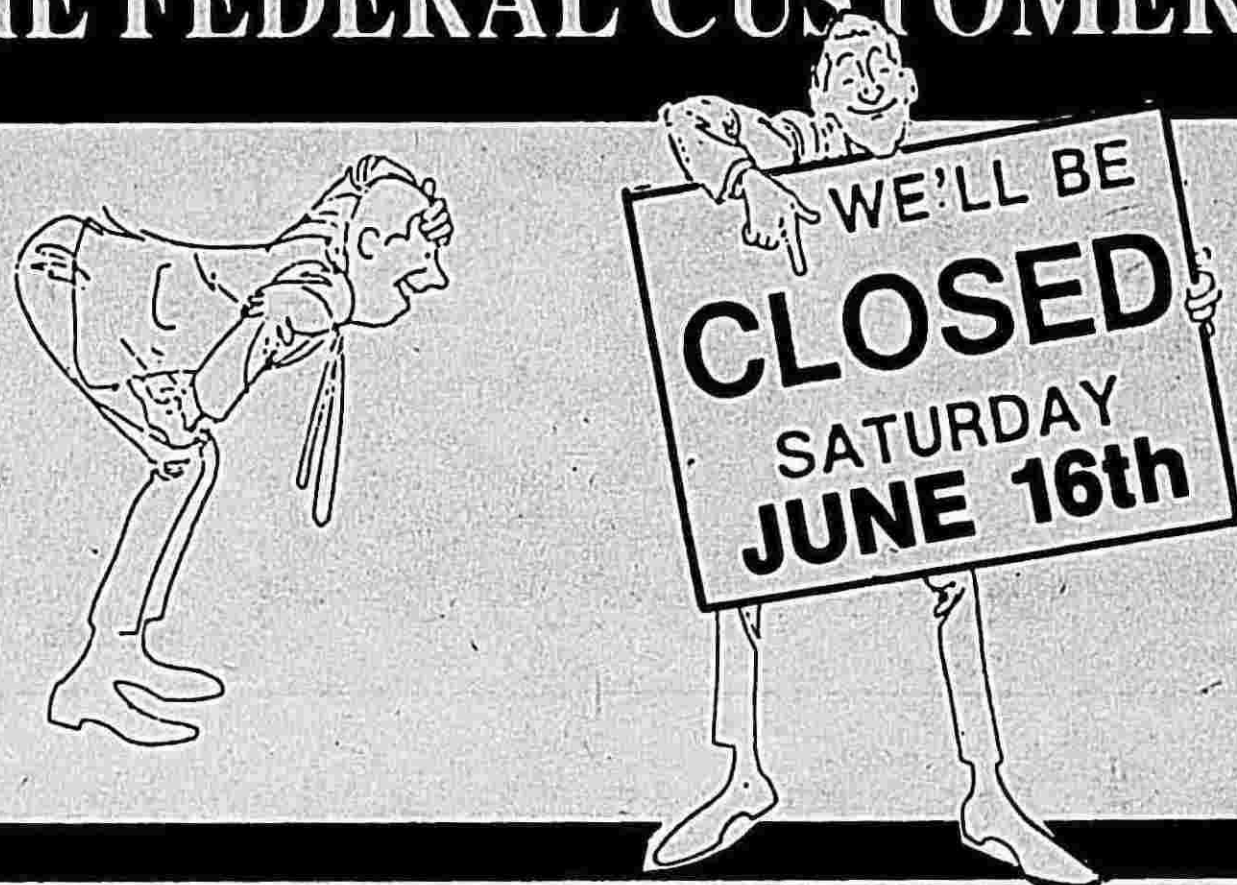

An example of Crouch's expertise as a press agent occurred when the great fire struck Chicago. Printed notices announced that the Erie Railroad would transport goods to Chicago without charge. This created immeasurable goodwill for the railroad but did little for Gould's personal image.

Gould could have been respected. He chose silence instead, and his reputation has never recovered.

Survivor Life insurance may lack benefits

by ALAN NADOLNA

What is too cheap usually is.

In the early 1980's the estate tax law changed. The 100 percent marital deduction allowed unlimited amounts of estate value to pass from one spouse to another with no tax. This created a major tax trap.

At the subsequent death of the second spouse, the estate, if over $600,000 was subject to a tax that starts at 34 percent and peaks at 60 percent.

Millions of people who own homes and other assets that have appreciated over the years have an estate of more than $600,000. Assets like life insurance, retirement plans and real estate are often overlooked in estimations for our own estate valuation. Many estate owners were forced to sell properties to pay taxes that were totally unexpected.

Perfect

Estate planners discovered there was an insurance product perfectly suited to the current tax picture. This product, Survivor Life, pays a death benefit at the second death. It delivers money to be used to pay estate taxes and enable beneficiaries to retain assets like real estate, stocks and others that might have had to be sold to pay taxes. The classic case of the use of this product was the Wrigley family. The family was forced to sell the Chicago Cubs because there was insufficient liquidity in the estate to pay taxes.

Attorneys and CPAs who practice estate planning have been supporters of the use of Survivor Life to pay estate taxes which are inevitable.

The second to die policy is much less expensive than traditional insurance, and good planning provides instate estate tax free liquidity. The combination of a Survivor Life policy, properly owned, and in irrevocable trust, properly drawn, is a powerful weapon in reducing the impact of estate taxation.

Critical

Like so many other good ideas, the concept of the second to die policy has spread and a "bandwagon" effect has taken hold.

There were a handful of insurance carriers that had these products available. They had long experience with this kind of insurance. Since this policy will usually be in effect for many years, and since the death benefit is so critical, product guarantees are vital.

Risk Shifting
As more new products were introduced, several insurance companies attempted to create competitive advantage through lower premiums. The way to lower premiums is to reduce the amount of guarantees and increase the projected benefits.

Lee Weiss

Lee Weiss has joined First United, Realtors as training director. Weiss is recognized as a leading trainer in the real estate industry.

This is a form of risk-shifting, from the insurance carrier to the buyer. In response, to the new competition, many old line companies have done the same. It means you are taking more of a risk.

This has created a potentially serious problem. Many buyers are unaware that coverage may or may not be in place in the amount needed and for the expected premium. Life insurance is a complicated financial product, and proposals are not always clear on what is guaranteed and what is projected.

It is imperative that professional advisors and clients determine the levels of guarantee in any Survivor Life proposal. Ask that the product be shown at reduced interest rates in addition to the rate assumed. This is an important decision that deserves professional advice. Survivor Life is an important insurance product that has to be sold on a conservative basis.

If you read the police report in this paper, you are quite well aware that robberies, burglaries and worse are taking place every week within minutes of where you live.

Yet you still don't have a home security system.

The FBI says your home is fifteen times less likely to be victimized if you do have one. That means your home is fifteen times more likely to be victimized if you don't. Professional and amateur criminals definitely prefer unprotected homes. Like yours.

The price of a home security system is no longer alarming. You actually can't afford not to have it. A good, basic, high technology home security system is only $549. Professionally installed! But what price can you put on the protection of your family and your own peace of mind.

Film Review

"Bird on a Wire" should draw a big enough audience on the strength of its stars, Mel Gibson and Goldie Hawn, but it would have been nice if the story had half the strength of their star power.

Gibson plays the same guy he played in both "Lethal Weapon" movies, which will probably be OK with most viewers. Why argue with success?

Hawn, who has turned in some very good performances since she became a mature actress, reverts back to her "Laugh-In days" and is back to playing cutesy bubble heads.

The story asks, can an auto mechanic who has been on the federal witness protection program for 15 years and who still maintains the socialistic values of his hippie days get back together with an old flame, Goldie, who has turned into a bonafide yuppie?

You'll have to see this one to find out. We'll give it three stars out of five just because a 100 minutes of Mel Gibson is enjoyable, no matter how one looks at it.

Be there

People who are interested in promoting classical music might want to volunteer to help during the Lake Forest Symphony's July 4 Concert on the Green. They need people for the ticket gates, concessions, ushers or people to assist the Concert on the Green staff in other ways. Call (708)234-3269 if interested.

Crossfire will be performing at the Sundance Saloon just outside of Mundelein this weekend.

Reggae Sunsplash will be on the docket at Poplar Creek on June 22.

The Greater Chicagoland Auction, featuring antiques, sports cars, classics from the 1950s and 1960s, and muscle cars, is set for June 8-10, at the Volo Auto Museum in Volo.

A boon for Elvis fans is being held at the Sheraton O'Hare Hilton in Rosemont, the Elvis Impersonators Convention, on June 8 and 9. Elvis impersonators slated to appear include Peter Guerin, Dave Ehler, Dave Carlson and Dan Lentino.

Speaking of the '50s and '60s, how about a sock hop? Immaculate Conception's Caring Parent Organization will be holding a '50s-'60s Sock Hop on June 9, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., in the school's parking lot in Waukegan, following the Scoop the Loop.

If dancing is your thing, also following Scoop the Loop is a Hang Out Dance at the J-M Club, on June 8, from 9 p.m. Proceeds will go to Waukegan High School.

For those of you who will be lucky enough to get tickets, one of the best of them all, "The Phantom of the Opera" opened last week at the Auditorium Theatre in Chicago. The run will be a considerable one, so if tickets are hard to get, keep trying; it's worth it.

One of the Chicago area's longest running and most popular musicals, "Pump Boys and Dinettes," will be continuing its run at the Forum Theatre in Summit through July 11.

Anyone interested in Lake County history will enjoy taking a tour through the Andrew Cook House and Museum, on Main St. in Wauconda. Call (708)526-9303 for information.

How theatrical can you be?

At a performance of 'Beau Jest', at the Halsted Theatre in Chicago, David Bader, Gurnee, a commodities broker at The Board of Trade, was brought up on stage by a cast member at the curtain call of a recent performance where, on bended knee, he proposed to his girlfriend Maria Grumet who said yes to the audience's delight. Couple in front toasting the future wedding are Bader and Grumet. From left are cast members, Paul Rouffa, Genevieve Morrill, Peter Curren, Bernie Landis, Michael Colucci and Roslyn Alexander. In play young suitor converts to Judaism. In real life, Bader's fiancée will do the converting.

Tell the World seeks new singers

Singer from freshman high school age through age 33 are invited to join Tell The World contemporary choir for the 1990-91 singing season. Rehearsals will be held on Sunday evenings at 7:30 p.m. and concerts presented at churches in the community and surrounding areas by the group.

Tell the World in sponsored by the Evangelical Free Church of Wauconda and directed by Walt Martin of Island Lake. Martin, a graduate of Valparaiso University and his wife, Miriam, a graduate of Wheaton College, organized Tell the World in 1980 and have now been joined by Sherry and Mike Bagby of Crystal Lake. Their more notable performances include two appearances on the Chicago Sunday Evening Club on Channel 11, the Tomorrowland Stage at Walt Disney World, and competitions in Syracuse, N.Y. and Estes Park, Col.

"Here is a chance for Christian young people to make a musical contribution to the community while enjoying the social contact with like minded guys and gals," said Pastor Jerry Moore. Those who participated need not belong to the Free Church, and many different denominations are represented. This will be the 11th year for the group.

Currently there are members of the group from Antioch, Barrington, Cary, Crystal Lake, Fox River Grove, Grayslake, Gurnee, Ingleside, Island Lake, Lake Zurich, Lakemoor, Lindenhurst, McHenry, North Chicago, Round Lake, Vernon Hills and West Dundee.

Members returning to the group will be: soprano - Barb Albert, Carrie Gardner, Julia Jackson, Lara Larson, Joy Martin, Trisha Schuerr, Trudi Werner; alto - Beth Bodellos, Lauren Bernau, Brenda Dayton, Jenny Drensen, Heidi Evans, Heather Ghera, Allison Hammock, Deb Lehmann, Anna Pickens; tenor - Doug Jennings, Mike Knight, Neil Laabs, Buddy Pride, Scott Schuerr; bass - Dave Carrick, Don Gaul, John Howell, Robert Larson, Jim Long; sound and lights - Scott Kokuska, Brenda and Bill Gabriel, John Hallman, Dave Johnson.

Young men and women who would like to participate or would like to have more information are invited to call the Martins at (708)526-8306 for details.

Churches which would like to have the group sing for them are invited to call now to arrange dates for the 1991 season. First rehearsal is Sunday, July 29.

McGillivray taking a Highland fling

by MELISSA LEFLER

There could have been no more welcome sight for Navy Lawyer James McGillivray last August than the wet, windy moors and hills of eastern Scotland.

It seemed as if McGillivray, the son of Dr. James and Catherine McGillivray of Gurnee, had been preparing his entire life for the day he would come to live in Scotland.

To begin with, he has played the bagpipes for 20 years, competing in the United States and Canada while in high school. Whether in America, Canada or Scotland, he feels downright comfortable in any of his half-dozen kilts - he has been wearing kilts for as long as he can remember.

"Both my parents are from Scottish backgrounds. Scotland was my first choice for overseas orders," explained McGillivray, a Navy lieutenant who is assigned to the Navy Security Group Activity here as the legal officer.

Home now for McGillivray, his wife, Martha, and year-old daughter, Catherine, is a farm cottage in the Scottish town of Mary Kirk, about nine miles from the Royal Air Force Base in Edzell. The U.S. Navy shares the base with the Scottish Defense Ministry.

"Mark Kirk is a tiny village of about 200 people. There's one pub in town, called the 'local'."

"It's really a village center more than a bar. We can even take our daughter; there are always kids and dogs in there."

McGillivray said that he felt accepted by the people of the town right from the start. "Growing up in a Scottish home, it feels like home over here. My family has been invited to all the local teas, and last November, we were at the Guy Fawkes Day bonfire."

Along with learning about their Scottish heritage, another tradition in the McGillivray family is an earnest belief and practice of their Catholic faith, including a Catholic school education. After graduating in 1978 from Carmel High School for Boys in Mundelein, McGillivray naturally gravitated to the University of Notre Dame, where he earned a bachelor of arts in English in 1982. At that point, he hesitated a bit about what path to take.

"After Notre Dame, I wanted to go to graduate school, but I knew that jobs available for people with doctorates in English are limited. I didn't want to be the best-educated cabbie in Chicago."

At Notre Dame, McGillivray said, an English major encompassed a broad field of study, including theology and philosophy. He thought law seemed a logical extension of these fields. While earning a law degree from Indiana University, McGillivray "sampled major fields of law," by clerking summers for a medical clinic, a law office, and a large corporation. What he learned was that he didn't want to be tied down to just one area of jurisprudence.

"The Navy offers me the chance to practice all the specialties in the course of a year. I've not been pigeonholed," he said. Military service was a comfortable career choice for other reasons, he revealed.

"The military likes Catholic school kids because we know how to take orders," he said, half joking, half serious. "As in Catholic school, we (sailors) never have to worry about what to wear. This made for a smooth transition to Navy life," he concludes.

The Navy baptized McGillivray not with water but with its own type of total immersion. When soon after law school graduation, McGillivray reported to his first Navy job as a defense attorney for marines stationed at Camp LeJeune, N.C., he was plunged into a sea of legal cases.

"I walked in the door, and they handed me a stack of cases," McGillivray remembers. McGillivray stood there, holding the file. He thinks he must have looked astonished, because the next words he heard were, "You're a lawyer, aren't you? This is it. You've got folks in the brig; you'd better get over there."

The philosophy of law is different in the military than in the civilian world, McGillivray learned, and he believes that is as it should be. "The military is ensuring discipline to a point that civilians wouldn't, and shouldn't, put up with."

In Scotland, McGillivray is on the command's side of the legal fence. He works as the captain's attorney. This envelopes a wide range of legal duties for the sailors assigned to the command, from leases and landlord/tenant disputes, to contracts and consumer law.

In addition, McGillivray combines his interest in British, Scottish and American military and civilian law when he teaches a "Law of War" course to Highland military units. Those Highland unit classes are not the only time when he makes the switch from lawyer to professor. Two nights a week, McGillivray - the unquelled English major - teaches college courses in English composition and critical writing for the University of Maryland's extension program offered to service people stationed overseas.

Teaching sailors allows McGillivray to court his first sweetheart, the English language, and serves an additional purpose, community service.

"One of the reasons I joined the Navy is that for me, to be in service is to be of service."

Now, McGillivray is a reservist serving on active duty, which is how Navy lawyers start out.

"There is a program where I can stay in, and I am applying for that now."

Lt. James McGillivray

McGillivray explained. With congressional budget cuts looming, McGillivray knows that some numbers may have to be juggled before new lawyers receive permanent commissions.

"I'm not worried, because I can practice my profession anywhere," McGillivray said. "But I'd be very disappointed if I didn't get to stay in."

When it's time to leave, McGillivray said, he'll miss the 'local' - knowing that there is a place to go to catch up on the town's news, and see friendly faces. And despite his predisposition to love Scotland, and his enthusiasm for all things Scottish, McGillivray admits that when he first arrived, he had to make adjustments, like any American.

The chief adjustment was to the unremitting rain and wind. "We came from North Carolina where we were into the whole beach scene: sailing, sun, the water. I had to learn to wear socks again," McGillivray said. But that wasn't the biggest hardship...

"I was used to 56 tv channels. The BBC (British Broadcasting Company) has four," he reported. "It was tough missing the Cubs last year when they were in the division play-offs," McGillivray mourned. "The fans waited many years for that, and I was over here when it finally happened."

Egan plays blues

The new edition of the RoughHouse Blue Band will be appearing at 6 p.m., on the main stage, on June 14, at Libertyville Days. The band includes Egan on guitar, keyboard player Mark Holladay, Vernon Hills; drummer, Jake Zimmer, Highland Park, and bassist Kevin Donnellan, Libertyville. Egan formerly played with the band Jambalaya which toured with Fleetwood Mac in 1973. Egan is a Libertyville resident who has played the guitar since 1966.

Penny lovers rebel Anti-penny drive sees legislature 'cents' less

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

There is a strong drive in the federal legislature to almost eliminate the use of the U. S. penny.

This proposed law does allow using no less than five pennies at a time and no more than 25 of them in song only heard on the old-est but goodies shows.

I know that one can't even use pennies in a parking meter anymore and penny loafers have been out of style for awhile.

Of course Uncle Sam will make money if the bill passes with taxes rounded while staring into an empty wallet. Boy does that load of copper ballast in the bottom of my bag come in handy, then!

Besides, a shiny copper penny has always been the most beautiful of our coins.

So unless you're a Pinko-Red subversive Japanese car lover, you'll sit right down and write your legislator about preserving the Indian-head coins that make-up one of our oldest heritages, besides penny loafers are bound to come back in, then what will we do?

When I think about it...

one transaction.

This proposed law also seeks to have prices and taxes rounded out to the nearest nickel so as to eliminate the reason for pennies.

There is a group fighting the pending passing of this legislation known as Americans for Making Cents.

This group took a survey that showed that 62 percent of adult Americans are for keeping the penny part of our legal tender.

Agreed that one can no longer purchase much of anything with one, two or even four cents --- but this attempt by our lawmakers is probably one of the most un-American moves since the flag hit the floor of the Art Institute.

OK--OK-- so there is no more penny candy and "Pennies From Heaven" is a out and naturally up and the consumer will pay a higher price for goods for the same reason. Those pennies plus will add up.

Yet just these nostalgic bits of Americana should be enough to keep that dear old copperhead in circulation.

And furthermore, without thinking very hard I can quickly come up with two important ways we are now utilizing that good old copper image of Lincoln.

Many stores and restaurants leave a dish on the counter where they toss all the odd pennies when the cashier takes payment, then when enough pennies are gathered, they go to a charitable cause.

And I know there are a lot of gals like your columnist who toss all the pennies they get in change to the bottom of their purses-until they find themselves dying for a cup of coffee-and,

Volo auto auction June 8-10

A joint presentation hosted by the Volo Auto Museum and Kruse International, the 17th annual edition of the Greater Chicagoland Auto Auction (Chicago '90) will take place on June 8 to 10 on the grounds of the Volo Auto Museum at 27640 W. Hwy. 120, in Volo.

Featuring antiques, sports cars, classics from the '50s and '60s, and a vast assortment of the finest muscle cars in the country, auctioneers Dean V. Kruse and Mitchell D. Kruse will lead a parade of over 600 high-quality automobiles across the block during the three-day event which will have a collective value well in excess of $15 million.

Prime attractions among cars already consigned include a one-of-a-kind 1929 4-door convertible Packard believed to be owned by German-born actress Marlene Dietrich! A 1956 Mercedes Gullwing, a 1949

Oldsmobile convertible! and a 1984 red Ferrari Boxer with a tan leather interior and only 6,000 miles.

On the muscle car side of the roster, high-horsepower consignments so far include an all-original, numbers-matching 1970 Chevelle LS6, a Hemi-powered 1966 Dodge Coronet 500 with only 17,000 miles, a Hemi 1970 Dodge Challenger 2-door hardtop (one of only 246 built) and a 1967 Corvette equipped with a 427 cubic-inch, 435 horsepower V-8.

Joe Bortz, the renowned dream car collector and owner of the Blue Suede Shoes Auto Collection, will also be present, and has reserved three auction spaces which as of this writing, have not been filled.

Consignors are required to post an entry fee of $300 for cars offered at a specified reserve, while cars offered at no reserve can be entered for $200. Bidders must pay a $45 bidder's fee and provide proof of good funds, which are defined as cash, cashier's checks, traveler's checks,

General admission is $6 for adults, and $3 for children under 12 years of age. EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Can an infant's vision be tested?

ANSWER: Yes. As a matter of fact, an infant's eye sight should be tested as early as possible. Babies are sometimes born with vision and eye problems just like they are born with other physical conditions. Modern testing procedures allow these conditions to be detected at birth so that corrective treatment can be planned.

During the painless testing procedure, the baby looks at a video screen on which different types of stripes and patterns appear. Electrodes attached to the baby's head record brain waves created when the infant looks at the screen. If abnormal brain waves occur, the baby's eyes should be studied to identify the nature of the problem and to determine what corrective treatment, if any, is needed. If necessary the same corrective options used for older children and adults are available for babies including glasses, medication or surgery.

Saving money on your European vacation

Part 1 - currency exchange

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

No, I can't tell you how to see "Europe on '25 a Day." Mr. Frommer has a good book for you student-types. But, I can offer some first-hand advice for the budget-conscious traveler.

Trading those U.S. greenbacks for pounds, guilders, marks, etc., can get costly if you're not careful.

Depending upon which airport you arrive at, you may find several exchange services willing to change your money. Don't just look at the posted exchange rate. Most also charge a commission which may not be posted. Shop and compare.

Quite often, you will get a better exchange rate for travelers' checks than for U.S. currency. Also, if you change American Express travelers' checks at one of their overseas offices, you will not be charged any commission.

Never, never change your money at your hotel. On the average, they offer the worst exchange rates. Your best exchange rates will be at banks, but they are open even fewer hours than their U.S. counterparts. Some do have 24-hour branches located at train stations.

The dollar is gaining against most European currency, but don't expect to make money when changing back to greenbacks on your return home. Exchange only what you think you are going to need.

With the dollar on the rise, though, it may be wise to use credit cards. You will pay the rate of exchange at the time you are billed, not at the time of purchase.

Next week, we will talk about phoning the folks back home using something called a "phonecard."

Col. Bill watches cicadas circling his tree trunk

As I watch for big backyard maple tree, the brown skeletons of the cicada making their way from ground to trunk and then upward are clearly visible. A few other things are changing too. The bird feeder is not as busy since there is ample food everywhere.

The first stage of their 17 year visit brings them from the ground; the second equips them with wings to travel, mate and reproduce. Another interesting by-product is squirrel behavior. They, too, avoid the bird feeder at this time and substitute succulent cicadas, which they munch upon, as they clear a pathway up the trunk to their nests. For the squirrels, it is a "gorge-us" way to live these days.

As many as I have asked, no one seems remotely interested in sampling these cicadas, including myself. If interested, however, it's said they taste like uncooked potatoes and a spicy sauce dip is recommended to avoid nausea. Cats and dogs may treat them like popcorn and overeat. This interesting phenomena warrants attention of outdoor folks, if only to explain it to the kids.

There is another type of young we can help most by ignoring them. Late spring and early summer brings offsprings of four legged and feathered creatures native to our area. The first reaction of most big-hearted people is to "save" these abandoned infants by taking care of them, possible in their own home. What people do not see, perhaps, is the animal's parent hiding in the background of off searching for food. Even if tempted to assist, resist, because it is usually more harmful then helpful.

If you are successful in raising an infant to adulthood, you have robbed him of his natural instincts for survival. Upon return to the area in which he was found and on his own, he probably would survive only briefly.

Safe Boating Week was recognized nationally June 3-9. Most Illinois marinas and harbors are already occupied and boaters have taken their annual shake-down cruises in search of needed precautions. Safe boating knows no calendar dates and must be observed whenever on the water. Safety afloat starts with being a gentleman all times, considerate of others, keeping your craft under control and holding your course in emergencies. Then, remember that boat fuel absolutely does not mix with alcohol or drugs. If necessary, designate a driver for the safety of your own passengers and those in other boats.

Illinois boating accidents, last year, numbered 97 on record and were responsible for 14 deaths and 70 injuries. Cook and Lake Counties were highest; most operators had no formal boating instructions, but alleged 500 or more hours of experience. It's not always a beginner problem. Twenty-eight percent believed their accident was the fault of the other person based on careless operation.

May through September are the high accident months with Sundays topping the list followed by Saturdays. Accidents occurred on clear days during good weather conditions and the majority were just cruising. The greatest causes were collisions with floating objects and capsizing, contact with other vessels, and being struck by a boat or propeller.

The U.S. Coast Guard and its auxiliary are the best friends a boater can have. Call them at (1-312)353-0278 for information. Or call Illinois' Conservation Office (1-312)814-2070 for details of Coast Guard approved boating safety classes.

Lakeland's WEEKEND/LEISURE

Mom Likes To Cook

By Randee Rlan

Salad dressing

No matter what is being used as the base for the salad you are serving, it is the dressing that will make it or break it. For tossed salads, the choices are almost endless. Except for those vegetable salads that are marinated, the dressing should only be applied at the last minute. Otherwise, the vinegar in many dressings will "cook," or wilt, the greens and the salad will become unappetizingly soggy.

These recipes were found in newly published, "The Complete Book of Sauces," by Sallie Y. Williams, MacMillan Publishing Co., N.Y. Very enjoyable with over 300 recipes covering sauces, marinades, salad dressings, barbecue sauces, compound butters, salsas and more. Look at your book store.

Old-fashioned French dressing

When mother made salad dressing at home, this was it. Serve with green salads, citrus salads or even cold meats, this is really an all-purpose dressing with lots of flavor.

- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 1/4 cup good quality chili sauce
- 2 Tbl. sugar
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 small onion, minced
- 1/4 tsp. paprika
- salt to taste

Combine all the ingredients in a medium-size mixing bowl and beat well to blend. Let the dressing stand for at least one hour to blend the flavors.

Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Jalapeño vinaigrette

The bite from this peppery vinaigrette brings a little south-of-the-border taste to cold meat and shellfish salads.

- 2/3 cup olive oil
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar

- 1 Tbl. Dijon mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp. finely minced jalapeño pepper (be careful not to burn hands or eyes).
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh coriander
- salt to taste.

Whisk together all the ingredients in a medium-size mixing bowl. Let stand 30 minutes before using to blend the flavors.

Oriental dressing

While this is definitely a salad dressing, it is also very good with roast pork, hot or cold. The hot, nutty flavor with just a touch of acid will also perk up any pasta salad and make grilled fish something extra special.

- 1 Tbl. lemon rind
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/2 cup peanut oil
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 Tbl. soy sauce
- 1 Tbl. rice or white wine vinegar
- 1 Tbl. peanut butter, chunky or smooth
- 1/2 tsp. Chinese chili paste (available in most supermarkets).
- salt to taste

Place the lemon rind and garlic in the work-bowl of a food processor and pulse until finely chopped. Add the oil, lemon juice, soy sauce, vinegar, peanut butter and chili paste, and process until the mixture is thick and creamy. Season with salt and serve at room temperature.

Makes about 1 cup.

Poppyseed dressing

Try this delicious combination on a fruit salad. Even the children will eat it all.

Girl voted likely to succeed in '46 finally succeeds in '90

by STEPH ENGLE
Lakeland Newspapers

Carol Lyons, voted "Most Likely to Succeed" in 1946 by her high school class, finally succeeded when she graduated from Concordia University at the age of 62.

Lyons, a resident of Ingleside, graduated with a bachelor of arts in education.

"I've finally fulfilled a life-long dream. I have been going to school on and off since I dropped out of high school after the death of my mother and I can't believe I'm finally graduating," Lyons said.

She has attended various schools such as Bradley University, Northwestern University and Concordia and piled up credits over the years.

"I've taken classes in numerous foreign languages and other subjects and I want to pass on what I've learned to children," she said.

Lyons, known to many in the Lake County area as Carol Starr because of her past experiences as a union entertainer, completed her student teaching requirement at Ellis School in Round Lake Beach under the guidance of Toni Urbaitis.

She graduated with a 3.82/4.0 grade point average and her six children are very impressed.

"My kids, including the two that are currently in college, think this is wonderful," she said.

Her six children as well as her sister came from around the country to celebrate her graduation. Lyons and her husband Robert, a chef at Victory Memorial Hospital, held an open house for friends and family.

As for the future, Lyons said she has started sending out resumes to area schools and hopes to land a job as a lower elementary school teacher.

"I have great enthusiasm and a great love for learning and I never want to stop. That's why I've never given up on my schooling, even though I had to drive two hours to Concordia and back every day," she said.

Lyons attributes her success to the Lord. She said, "No part of my life could have been achieved without his goodness. I hope he inspires other seniors to keep reaching for their dream like I did. It is very possible to reach your goals, even at my age."

Diversity characterizes CLC Class of 1990

Rainy skies didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the 851 students who graduated from the College of Lake County. Clarence Page, Pulitzer Prize winning journalist and syndicated columnist, delivered the commencement address and was awarded the CLC Outstanding Illinois Citizen Award.

Like previous CLC graduating classes, diversity characterized the class of 1990. Most of the graduates were female with 57 percent, and the class ranged in age from 18 years old to 66. The 21 to 30 age group was best represented with 40 percent followed by the 31 to 40 age group with 24 percent and the under 21 group with 23 percent. The average age of the graduates was 29.

The class represented 42 different communities within Lake County and 29 towns outside the county. The majority of graduates, 64 percent, came to CLC from 20 different Lake County high schools.

Of the 851 awards, 51 percent were traditional "transfer" degrees; the associate of arts (140) and associate of science (270). Associate of applied science degrees accounted for 33 percent of the total with certificates accounting for 16 percent.

The most popular major for the class of 1990 was business at 18 percent, followed by physical sciences and biological/health sciences at 13 percent each.

Academic excellence was reflected in this class as 204 graduated with honors (GPA of 3.0-3.49), 75 graduated with high honors (GPA

3.5-3.74) and 64 graduated with highest honors (GPA of 3.75-4.0).

About this section

Lakeland Newspapers salutes all the graduates who received diplomas for the 1989-90 school year. This section is a tribute to those hard working and dedicated students who have taken a big step into the future.

However, this section does not include graduation lists from all of the Lakeland area schools. The College of Lake County graduates will be published in next week's edition, as will many others. Some schools could not get their lists to Lakeland in time for this printing.

DAHLIA 3

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 106'-0" x 73'-6"
LIVING: 3488 square feet
GARAGE: 912 square feet
COVERAGE: 3601 square feet

330-73 DAHLIA 3
By Landmark Designs

Because readers in this area expressed such a wide range of responses to the 1990 Dream Home Survey, it was necessary to design homes in three different sizes. This, the largest of the three, was created from a compilation of requests by people who wanted a large home, between 2,500 sq ft and up.

The country colonial Dahlia 3 manages to combine old world flavor with a country feel. Its lofty brick arched entry, richly gabled roofline and double chimneys, make it as imposing as it is comfortable and spacious within.

This home includes a guest suite and a home office, both popular features these days. The home office fills the bill for the people who are finding it either necessary, or desirable to do at least some of their work at home. If no office is needed, it could be a study, exercise or hobby room, or even an artist's studio.

The guest suite will be equally appreciated whether its occupant is an aging parent or adult offspring who need a place to stay for awhile. Its location in an area separate from both the master suite and the second floor bedrooms offers privacy.

Ceilings in the living room, dining room and entry are vaulted to the second floor and filled with light from banks of windows, giving the area an almost cathedral-like sense of space. The landing at the top of the graceful open stairwell overlooks the entryway and the dining room.

Warm natural light fills the large country kitchen as well, flooding in through twin skylights, a garden window and the sunny half-octagon-shaped nook. A large pantry adds to the already ample storage space, and one side of the cooking/work island doubles as a small eating bar.

Utilities are down the long storage-lined hallway, close to the garage. A laundry chute adds convenience, and a touch of fun for the kids, while space for a freezer is an added plus.

The master suite is spacious and elegant, with a walk-in closet as large as some children's bedrooms, and another closet to boot. Other features include a separate shower and oversized tub (could be a spa), along with an extra vanity in the skylit dressing room.

And naturally the home has a two car garage with extra space for storage and plenty of room for a large shop. As an additional plus, this home is designed so that empty nesters can live completely on the lower level, leaving the upper floor ready for visiting family members or other overnight guests.

For a study plan of the DAHLIA 3 (330-73), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Lake Zurich

St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Old McHenry Road, Lake Zurich, will conduct a vacation bible school at St. Matthew Lutheran School from July 23 through 27. Our sessions will be from 8:30 to 11 a.m.

The theme "Journeys With Jesus" will be for children in nursery, kindergarten, first and second, third and fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

An exciting five day vacation through Old and New Testament lands will lead vacationers, "Along the King's Highway."

If you are interested, call the school office at (708) 438-6103 or the church office at (708) 438-7709 and leave your name.

Lindenhurst

"Journeys with Jesus" is the theme of Vacation Bible School at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Lindenhurst. The community is invited to attend the classes for three years old through children entering the 8th grade next year on Monday, June 11 through Friday, June 22. Vacation Bible School is in session from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each day. The church is located at 1822 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst.

Students will participate in Bible Stories, art activities, music, service projects, recreation and worship - all centered on five themes: "Journey with Jesus at the Synagogue - Sharing the Good News," Journey with Jesus to the City - Responding in Faith," "Journey with Jesus by the Sea - Trusting in God," "Journey with Jesus on the road - Serving God and Others," and "Journey with Jesus in the Country - Witnessing in New Places."

Journeys with Jesus is an exciting and important learning opportunity for children, youth and adults. It aims to provide a learner-centered, fun-filled and happy occasion for all who participate.

Registration for Vacation Bible School is now in progress. You can register or obtain additional information by visiting the church office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and noon Monday through Friday, or by calling the church at (708) 356-8140. Pre-registration is required by Wednesday, June 6. Registration forms are available in the narthex.

Cadet Corps offers kids Navy experience

by STEPHANIE ENGLE
Lakeland Newspapers

The Cadet Corps program sponsored by the Navy League of America will begin holding its meetings at Great Lakes Naval Base in mid-June, according to Commanding Officer Richard Cox.

The program, based out of Great Lakes, currently holds its meetings at the Arlington Heights Army Base and because the program is growing, they've decided to hold meetings at Great Lakes as well.

The program is for children, ages 10 years, 9 months to 18 years, who are interested in the Navy.

The program is divided into two sections, based on age. The Navy League, called Training Squadron Butcher O'Hare, is for children between 10 years, 9 months and 14. The Sea Cadets, called Nimitz Squadron, is for children between 14 and 18.

Both groups meet one night a week for an hour and a half and every second Saturday of each month for eight hours.

The participants take courses, get promoted like in the real Navy, learn to tie knots, go on Navy ships, wear uniforms, march in parades, learn drills and go to boot-camp.

"We show kids what the Navy is like. They learn about discipline, patriotism, equality and most important, team work," said Cox, who is the leader of the younger group.

"The purpose of the program is just to show kids what the Navy is all about. We aren't trying to recruit them. We simply offer the kids an alternative to 'hanging out' on the streets," said Lt. Marge Meyers.

However, if the participants decide to join the Navy, they immediately start off one rank higher than those who weren't part of the program, Cox said.

The 28-year-old program has 200 Sea Cadet units and 40 Navy League units around the country and is run by volunteer officers.

"We're a very active group. We try to do two things a month with the kids such as visit naval ships in Chicago and visit other bases," Cox said.

He added parents are invited to get involved.

"They can do anything from sit in on lectures to come along on field trips to help with the newsletter," Cox said.

Michael Meyers, Marge Meyers' son, has been in the group for four years and has done such things as spend two weeks on the U.S.S. Tripoli in San Diego and go to Norfolk, Va. for the commissioning of the U.S.S. Abraham Lincoln.

"This program offers a lot of opportunities that the average kid wouldn't have," he said.

Boys and girls between 10 years, 9 months and 18 years old can contact the Great Lakes Naval Air Base for more information.

"Never, Never, Never Quit"

These words were spoken by a man who knew well the struggles of dealing with tough emotional problems. His manic-depression forced him to fight against severe mood swings, making it difficult for him to cope with everyday realities, let alone a very stressful and challenging job. Yet, he never gave up. He never let his illness stand in the way of his potential for tremendous personal growth. His name was Winston Churchill.

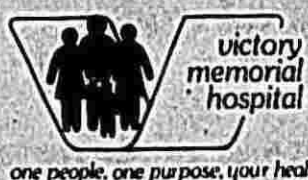

At Victory Memorial Hospital's Mental Health Unit, we believe that every individual has the potential for tremendous personal growth. A time of crisis can also be a time of opportunity. It's our job to help people understand and take full advantage of these opportunities when they occur.

Rather than rely heavily on medication, our program seeks to guide patients back to health through one-on-one lessons in how to deal with life's tensions. Patients participate in individual counseling, group therapy, relaxation training, stress management and family counseling. We believe this problem-solving approach to emotional problems helps ensure that our patients will remain healthy.

If you or someone you love is struggling with a tough personal problem, remember, "Never, never, never quit." Instead, reach out for help. Call the Victory Memorial Hospital Mental Health Unit at (708) 360-4082.

Carmel's pitching trio guides team to Elite 8

By STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

The timing could not have been better.

"This is baseball boys, you gotta love it," Chuck Gandolfi told his troops.

The celebration was just beginning in the sixth inning of the Barrington baseball sectional title game against Rolling Meadows. Carmel had just went ahead 3-2 en route to a 4-2 win and a first trip to Springfield.

"We were confident coming in. We won conference (East Suburban Catholic) last year for the first time in the school's history. This year we put our emphasis on the state tournament," Gandolfi said.

Four wins later, the worries of the Corsairs, 25-7, had to do with whether the hotel had a swimming pool. The Corsairs battled Oak Park in the Thursday quarterfinal round.

Rolling Meadows' season was ended by errors as key mistakes fueled the Corsairs attack. Carmel used the pitching trio of starter Jim Cooney, Dave Woll and reliever Eric Maloney.

"Carmel is a good club. It's unfortunate we can't continue but we do not have anything to be ashamed of," Rolling Meadows Larry Tanaka said.

Matt Simmons proved to be the hitting hero for the Corsairs. He reached on one of the Mustangs' four errors in the fourth inning as Carmel broke a 2-2 tie.

Todd Roudledge reached on a two-base error to start the inning, and leadoff hitter Todd Staehle reached as the rightfielder dropped a flyball.

Two outs later, Simmons stretched to beat out a ground ball to score Roudledge.

Rolling Meadows faced Maloney, who learned a few minutes later that he was drafted in the third round by the Chicago White Sox, in the sixth.

The Mustangs threatened, as a double, a walk and a stolen base started the inning.

But Maloney struck out Mike Sowka, Ryan Giusti grounded to first baseman Cooney and pinch hitter Dave Clot was fanned.

It was Carmel which looked like it was missing its scoring chances early in the game.

In the first, Carmel scored just one run despite having seven batters. Staehle walked, was sacrificed, Maloney walked and Cooney had an RBI single. But two strikeouts ended the inning.

Rolling Meadows came right back, as Terry Boyne singled and scored.

Carmel took a shortlived 2-1 lead in the second as Maloney walked, Cooney (two-for-four) singled and Simmons belted a sacrifice fly.

Carmel added an insurance run in the sixth, setting up Gandolfi's comment. Staehle walked and Maloney reached on an error and the two executed a double steal. Cooney then sent a high flyball to center and the centerfielder ran a long ways to catch it, but dropped the ball for an error, allowing Staehle to score.

Gandolfi praised the trio of pitchers, citing Woll's getting out a Rolling Meadows threat.

"Cooney was pitching on sheer guts and Eric had nine straight strikes. This is the first game he had everything," Carmel catcher Tony Alport said of Maloney.

Maloney acknowledged he "has a difficult decision to make" as he considers trying to pitch at the new White Sox stadium with former teammate Scott Stahoviak with the Creighton Blue Jays.

"My Mom was wearing a Chicago White Sox cap," Maloney said.

And like the rest of the Corsairs, broad smiles around dinner time as well.

Time to celebrate

Carmel High School baseball players celebrate after winning Springfield for the first time. The Corsairs played Oak Park in the Barrington sectional with a 4-2 win over Rolling Meadows. Carmel, 25-7, qualified for the state finals in Peterson.

Fourth inning outburst sends Bears to Pekin

By JOHN PHELPS

Lakeland Newspapers

Lake Zurich High School Lady Bears softball team earned its first trip to the state finals Monday after defeating New Trier, 5-1 at the class A Barrington sectional.

All-Northwest Suburban Conference pitcher Denise Funk went the distance outdueling the Trevians pitcher Tracy Fields, hurling a five-hitter with four strikeouts and four walks.

"After the first three innings, it looked as though it would be a pitcher's duel," said Lake Zurich head coach Joe Kedzior.

Both teams had runners on base in the first inning but could not capitalize due to good defensive plays. The teams were retired in order until the fourth inning when Lake Zurich scored all the runs it would need.

With two outs, junior catcher Leah

Anderson and rightfielder Lisa Lamontia drew walks to put runners on first and second. With a 3-2 count, Joanne Beeh belted a triple to the fence scoring Anderson and Lamontia.

"We knew their pitcher was around our speed but she was the fastest we have faced so far. I just stepped up and told myself 'I could do it,'" Beeh said.

Senior second baseman Heather Kaufman then singled in Beeh to end the inning's scoring.

New Trier (16-10) led off the bottom half of the inning but Funk retired the next three batters.

"I was nervous until the fifth inning but then really calmed down," Funk said.

"She really kept her composure in the late innings," New Trier Coach John Cadwell said.

The Bears (22-1) picked up their fourth run in the top of the fifth. Junior centerfielder Tricia Znorski singled and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Leslie Todd. Funk then singled in Znorski to make it 4-0.

Funk again showed great composure as New Trier put runners on second and third with one out but was unable to cash in. Lake Zurich captured its final run in the sixth when Lamontia singled and was sacrificed to second by Beeh. A wild pitch allowed Lamontia to get to third when she then scored shortly after on a single by Jenny Minster.

The Trevians scored their sole run when Julie Ashley singled and went to second on a wild pitch and scored on a throwing error to third by the first baseman.

New Trier loaded the bases with two outs in the final inning but Funk put the nail in the coffin when she got the last batter to ground out.

"It feels great to go downstate," said Kedzior, in his eighth season. "We were mentally prepared today."

New Trier left eight runners on base as opposed to Lake Zurich's four.

"The team played hard and did a great job of shutting them down when they had runners on base," Kedzior said.

"If we take one game at a time, and play within ourselves we should do well," Kedzior said.

First Panther Jam offering day of fun

Basketball fans looking for a post-NBA final fix should mark June 23 on the calendar.

Beginning at 9 a.m., eight of the top high school teams in the country will be clashing in the first annual "Panther Jam" at Round Lake Senior High School. The games will be officiated by IHSA member officials.

Round Lake basketball Coach Bob Ward said he has been working on the one-day basketball festival since Spring Break. Lakeland Newspapers is one of the sponsors along with Coke, 1 & L Gas and Round Lake Area Park Dist.

All eight teams will be playing three times in the tournament, giving hoops fans plenty of chances to see the best high school teams in the area. The occasion will feature the first time Waukegan schools will play together since the merger set for next year.

"I think it will be a great experience for area basketball teams," Ward said.

Under high school rules, there will be no coaches on the benches since this is a summer tourney.

Two gyms at Round Lake High will be used for the 11-game bonanza.

Ward, whose team advanced to the finals of the Antioch regional, will be facing Chicago power Gordon Tech at 10:15 a.m. in the lower gym.

The tournament kicks off with Batavia, 26-3 last year, meeting Lake Zurich in a 9 a.m. game in the lower gym.

The 9 a.m. game in the upper gym will feature Scott Rostberg's Carmel contingent against Frank Belmont's Waukegan team.

Winners of those two games will clash at 11:30 a.m. in the lower gym with losers playing at 11:30 a.m. in the upper gym.

Round Lake takes on Gordon Tech in a 10:15 a.m. game in the lower gym and Mt. Carmel meets Highland Park at 10:15 a.m. in the upper gym. Round Lake will be hoping to avenge a close loss to Mt. Carmel at the Hampshire tournament.

Top players coming to the tournament include Lake Zurich's Eric Kraus, and Gordon Tech's Tom Kleinachnick.

Final games will include a seventh and eighth place battle at 2:30 p.m. in the upper gym. The consolation game will be at 3:45 p.m. in the upper gym.

Semi-final round losers will clash in the third place game at 2:30 p.m. in the lower gym.

The day will cap off with the championship game at 3:45 p.m. in the lower gym.

The tournament has been sanctioned by the Illinois High School Assn. Prices of admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for children.

The championship team will receive individual awards. Also, attractive t-shirts with the Lakeland Newspapers logo will be on sale at Round Lake High.

Mustangs, Scouts lead for all-NSC selections

Defending champion Mundelein and second-place finisher Lake Forest dominated selections on the all-North Suburban Conference girls softball team as each squad has five representatives.

Mundelein representatives include two seniors, a junior and a freshman.

Seniors Ashley Struggles and Lynette Kowalke, a pitcher, made the team along with junior outfielder Deanna Deal and catcher Terilyn Starkey, a freshman.

Mundelein was 17-1 in the NSC with Lake Forest two games behind at 15-3. It was Lake Forest which handed the Mustangs their first conference loss in more than 50 games.

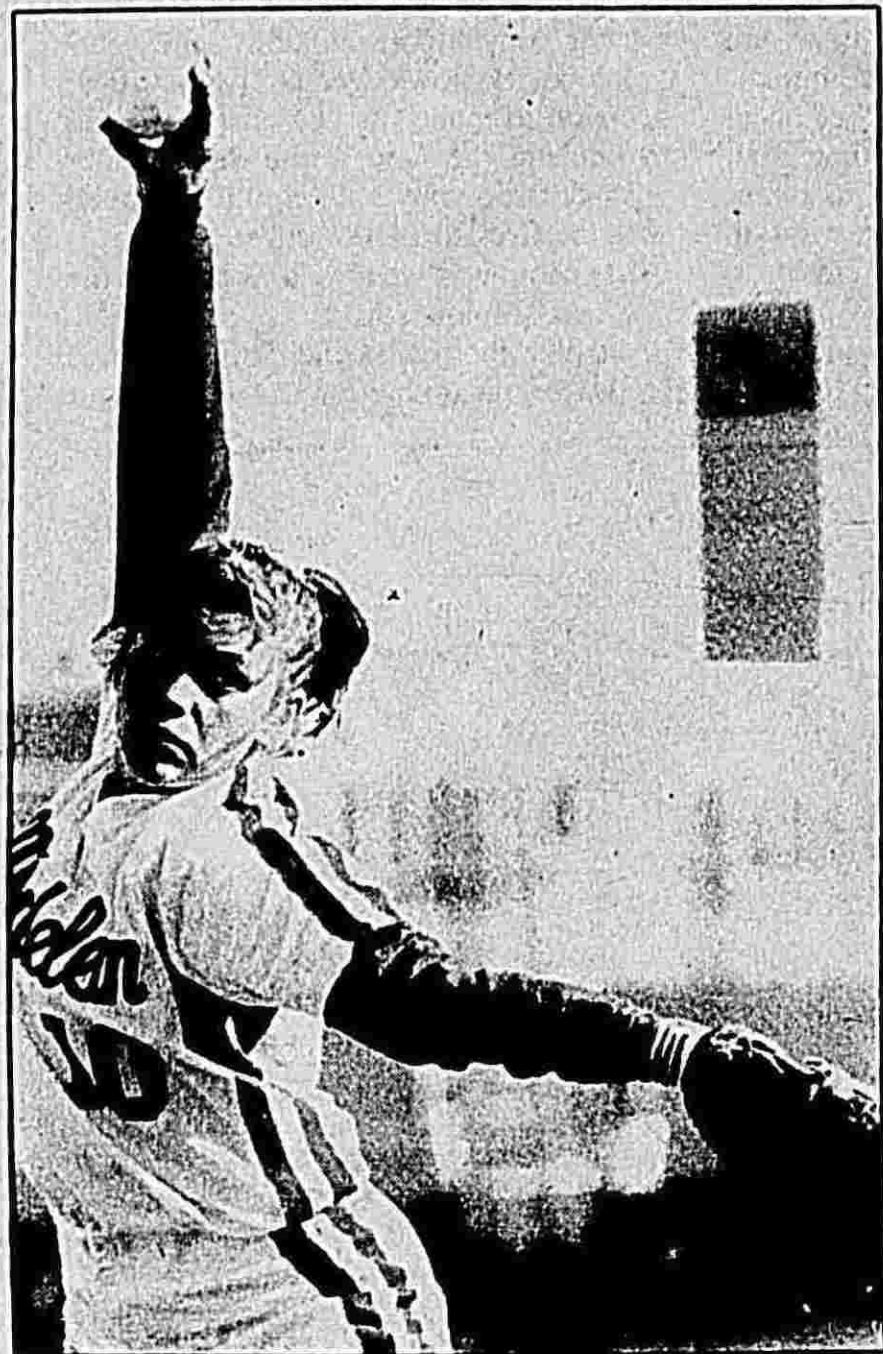

Antioch, Libertyville and Zion-Benton finished in a three-way tie for third at 12-6. Antioch representatives, were juniors Jenny Hagen and Linda Stark and senior Jenny Harris selected. Four Libertyville players, all seniors, made the team: Majbritt Andersen, Melinda McDonald, Alison Gustafson and Nancy McCormick.

Warren catcher Heather Olejak, a senior and junior pitcher Kate Serdar were selected from the 7-10-1 Blue Devil team.

Stevenson, which was 3-15, had Christine Piggott, a junior, selected.

North Chicago, which won its first NSC game in four years, did not have any representatives.

In post-season tournament action, Warren advanced to the sectional level before being eliminated by Lake Zurich. The Bears had defeated Mundelein earlier.

Fires one home

Mundelein High School pitcher Lynette Kowalke fires a pitch home during North Suburban Conference game. Kowalke, a senior, was one of several Mustangs selected to the all-NSC squad.

Durell nets second in meet

Tom Durell of Antioch, a junior at Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, MN, took home second place in the triple jump at the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC) championships, earning all-conference honors in that event. Durell had an effort of 46 feet, 8.5 inches. Earlier in the season, he broke the Gustavus triple jump record with a 47-8 and qualified to compete in the NCAA national championships held last month in Naperville.

Durell is a 1987 graduate of Antioch Community High School. He is the son of William and Janet Durell of Antioch.

Libertyville soccer falls in state title struggle

What started with an impressive showing Friday afternoon ended in a defensive struggle which the Libertyville girls soccer team lost to host St. Charles.

The host Saints made a third-period goal by Stacy Peterson stand up in a 1-0 battle for the state championship. The loss meant the second straight second-place finish for the Wildcats.

"I don't know what else we can do. I thought they played hard and well. I thought they were a little quicker," Libertyville Coach Andy Bitta said.

Peterson, a sophomore, scored the goal six minutes into the second half with an assist by Kristie Kula on a close-in shot past Libertyville goalie Carolyn Cerbus.

"Our defense stepped up too soon and they put the ball past our sweeper," Bitta said.

Libertyville, which had scored 14 goals in its first two tournament games, was thwarted by St. Charles goalies Peterson and Tracy Foster. Foster replaced Peterson after a scoreless first quarter.

Libertyville was a confident club heading into the semi-final round after it outclassed Lincoln Way 8-0. Lincoln-Way goalie Jessica Prokop set a new state record with 19 saves in the first half. Unfortunately for the Knights, it was lights out as the Wildcats put home four first-half scores. "I don't know if I should be happy for her or get on the rest of the kids," Lincoln-Way Coach Tim Klera said.

"We just wore them down," Bitta, who substituted frequently, said.

Libertyville, who had lost only a mid-season game to Stevenson before the championship, got going on offense when Tracy Chamberlain scored the first goal on what was meant to be a pass with 2:44 left.

Diane Rajca then scored in the second quarter unassisted on a rebound shot. Julie Heuberger was next to tally for Libertyville and Erin Murphy completed the first-half scoring on a goal off a direct kick.

In the second half, Allison Marquardt, who was once again named to the all-tournament team, scored as did Rajca for the second time.

Fourth-quarter tallies were notched by Heuberger and senior Natasha Zajicek.

"It will be their power game against our fitness game," Bitta said before the semi-final round game against Hoffman Estates. Chalk one up for the fitness style, as Libertyville won 6-0.

The Wildcats broke the game open with a three-goal second quarter as Cerbus earned another shutout.

After a Kim Marshall goal in the first quarter, Kim Cooper, Rajca and Jenny Brown tallied for a 4-0 lead at halftime. Earning assists were Linda Seiler, Marquardt, Laura Seeh and two by Murphy.

Junior Jori Seymour joined Marquardt on the all-tourney team, an honor Bitta said both deserved.

After the win over the Hawks, it was time to face the Saints in the state title game, but in a wind-swept and dusty field, the Wildcats would have to settle for the smaller trophy instead.

Although disappointed at the moment, the Libertyville community celebrated on Tuesday as Coach Andy Bitta and the team showed off the second-place trophy.

Next year, the Wildcats will continue the quest for the bigger one.

Family helps Cooney, CHS reach sectional title

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

A little bit of divine intervention never hurt in a baseball sectional.

Just ask Dorcen Bunt. When Carmel's Jim Cooney came to bat in the fifth inning and the bases were loaded, Bunt, Cooney's older sister, decided to pull out the Rosary. "I said, 'please God, this once.'" And seconds later, the Cooney was being mobbed by teammates as he crossed home plate following a towering shot to left field.

The first-pitch hit was the highlight of the inning for Carmel and probably would rival the morning's graduation for Cooney. The grand slam, Cooney's second hit of the day, put Carmel ahead for good at 13-9.

Cooney started the Barrington sectional game for the Corsairs. But the unbeaten pitcher looked like he may lose that status. Stu Chai started the inning for Woodstock with a double and it was downhill from there. Six hits later, Woodstock was ahead 5-0.

Offensively, the Corsairs doubled their coach's prediction. "I thought we would score eight runs and we doubled it," he said.

Carmel's first relief pitcher, David Woll, held the Blue Streaks in check until Carmel's offense got going.

Walks began to rattle Woodstock reliever Cliff Carlson in the beginning of the fifth. Tony Alport walked and Joe Keller singled. Carlson then had nine straight balls as Todd Reutledge, Maloney and Todd Stachle all drew passes. Then it was No. 28's turn. With his family watching from the right-field sideline, Cooney blasted a homer to left. Carmel held on to improve its record to 24-7.

By then, the 10-6 lead for Woodstock had reversed to a 16-10 Carmel margin. Somehow, the game's ending was fitting. Cooney, playing first base, raced over to the right-field fence to catch a foul ball. He whirled a peg to third baseman Dan Gramm, who tagged the Woodstock runner out for a double play.

Older homes face new restrictions

Septic law bubbles with changes

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

For people in unincorporated Lake County a septic tank is just as important as a telephone, natural gas, well or flush toilet.

There are an estimated 30,000 septic tanks in Lake County. The number is growing at the rate of 1,000 to 1,500 per year.

Without a septic many people would not have a home. That is one reason why there is a Lake County Health Dept. Among other things, this agency monitors both the installation of new septic tanks and the repair or replacement of old ones.

To Thacker's knowledge there are no failed or faulty septic tanks in Lake County today.

Last month the Health Dept. received broader septic tank enforcement powers. It came with County Board approval of the seventh revision of the county's septic tank ordinance adopted in 1960.

"Contrary to what some people might think, we are here to make sure they get the septic tank they need," said Colin Thacker, director of environmental engineering for the Health Dept.

This is often seemingly impossible when the new rules say septs must be 75 feet from a water well and have an expansion area equal to 75 percent of the existing drain field. Prior to the latest revision it was 100 percent.

These seemingly strict requirements are because Lake County soils are not porous. The glacier thousands of years ago left a deposit of clay-like soil that may be good for farming, but not for septs.

Today there are eight systems at two-year-old homes are failing due to soil conditions.

"Because of the 75/75 requirement it is difficult but not impossible for someone with a 100-by-100-foot lot to get approval for a septic," Thacker said. The same is true of repairs or replacement of a 20- or 25-year-old septic on an older and often-times smaller lot.

Between 200 and 300 requests are received each year for repairs. These get the highest priority.

Until last month's revision, small lots could not qualify for a septic tank permits.

Where's there a will, there's a way. The Health Dept. allows a credit for water-saving devices such as flow-restrictors in the shower or on faucets, low-flush toilets that use one-half gallon of water, incineration toilets or an aerator that injects oxygen into sewerage. In some cases the number of bedrooms or bathrooms might be reduced. "A toilet uses 40 percent of the water in a home," Thacker noted. "It all depends upon what a homeowner is willing to sacrifice."

These requirements apply to new construction, replacement or repairs. "For some older homes on lots platted years ago there is no way to meet the present-day ordinance," Thacker said. "So the stricter requirements become standard in those cases. We may also ban laundry equipment and, in severe cases, require the septic to be pumped weekly."

Homeowners or builders who disagree can ask for a variance. Most common is a deviation from the 75 percent septic field expansion area. "With water restriction devices we can easily allow a 55 percent area," Thacker said.

Those who can't qualify or won't change their plans can appeal directly to Dr. Steven Potts, director of the Health Dept. At this point attorneys may get involved.

Final court of authority is an appeal to the eight-member Board of Health. In five years this body has not heard a single appeal for a septic tank permit.

"In the past nine months we have had 50 requests for a variance and all were satisfactorily resolved at one of these levels," Thacker said.

Sometimes this means writing the Health Dept. ruling into the deed restrictions for the property. That means the current and future property owner cannot alter the water-sewer system. "This gives us the satisfaction of having a working system," Thacker said.

Where restrictions are ignored the Health Dept. goes to court. Five such cases are now pending in Circuit Court.

All of this is for the health and safety of everyone who lives in Lake County. An overflowing septic tank can lead to a hepatitis outbreak. Usually spread by contact, it can happen with an animal or child walking through or falling into the leachate. This is brought into the home.

Worse yet would be a typhoid fever outbreak, also from septic overflow.

Sometimes sewerage discharged into a lake can cause shigellosis. This happened last summer in Round Lake where between 20 and 30 cases were reported until the source—a faulty septic—was found.

Or the sewerage can contaminate a well and endanger the entire family.

One of the major provisions of the newly-amended septic tank ordinance affects luxury homes—3,500 square feet or more. These often have three bedrooms and at least two baths. "People who live in luxury homes use more water because they can afford to," Thacker said. This section was needed because more homes of this type are being built in Lake County.

Other provisions:

- * A septic permit must be obtained from the Health Dept. before applying to the Building Dept. for a construction permit.

- * Violations are subject to fines of $500 per day.

- * Health Dept. inspectors can red tag a project for violations without a court order.

- * No permanent structures or deck can be constructed on a septic absorption area.

- * Fees for septic permits remain the same, ranging from $85 to $200.

- * Fill for the septic area must have 10 percent fine silt or clay.

- * Drinking water and sprinklers shall not be within 25 feet of the soil absorption field or future expansion area.

- * Credits of 20 percent are allowed for low-flush toilets, 25 percent for incinerator toilets, 5 percent for front-loading washers. Water-consuming devices such as whirlpools, hot tubs or spas rated 60-80 gallons of water receive a deficit of 5 percent and those using in excess of 80 gallons get a 10 percent deficit. Garbage disposals rate a deficit of 5 percent.

- * Septic effluent cannot be applied to root vegetable gardens, areas growing fruits or vegetables eaten raw, pasture or hay where livestock graze or which is harvested for livestock.

Entech courting Lake County communities

by PAT CHRISTENSEN
Lakeland Newspapers

North Chicago may soon be getting a new garbage disposal system. Sources indicate that attorneys for the city are meeting with attorneys from a company called Entech, trying to hammer out a deal for a new, slow-burn garbage disposal system.

The Entech system is under consideration by several other communities at the present time, including Waukegan, Round Lake Beach, Antioch, Zion, Fox Lake, Mundelein, Libertyville, Lake Forest and, in a modified form, Grayslake. Sources indicate that the North Chicago plant, which would be owned and operated by Entech, might be approved within the next several weeks.

Entech claims that its system, called thermal oxidation, can handle up to 500 tons of garbage a day. The "slow burn" system takes 12 hours from start to finish, and reduces 90 percent of the load to clean ash, which can then be used in landfills or for other commercial uses.

The remainder of the load is unharmed by the low-heat process and all glass, steel, and aluminum can be reclaimed after the burn and recycled. The ash is currently picked up by an Iowa company which then makes garden blocks out of it for sale.

Apparently the glass isn't worth much, but it will be recycled rather than dumped. The steel and aluminum will bring a fair price for Entech.

Entech claims their system produces 40-80 percent fewer particle emissions than other, more traditional incineration systems.

The difference, the company claims, is due to the heat of the "burn." Thermal oxidation burns in two stages. "Think of it," said William D. Anderson, an Entech representative, "as a large pile of leaves. Have you ever tried to light a pile of leaves, but all you get is smoke? So you give up and go away and then, lo and behold, you come back and all that's left is a pile of ash? Thermal oxidation is exactly like that."

The unsorted, untreated trash is placed in a huge, sealed container and lit with a propane torch. Then the trash is left to burn. There is no stirring of the "mix" as there would be in a traditional incineration system. This leads to a cooler burn, of 1-2,000 degrees only. The trash is left to smolder and reduce itself to ash while the gases emitted are filtered into a series of two chambers and finally being ignited before what is left is released into the atmosphere. The result is far cleaner stack emissions, which meet or surpass federal EPA standards, according to Entech's brochure. Emissions are said to be less than the exhaust from a single passenger vehicle. "The diesel trucks used to haul the trash to the site is 18 times dirtier than the stack emissions from the plant," said Anderson. There is continuous monitoring of the stack flow emissions via computer.

The process, it is claimed, burns plastic, paper, styrofoam, petroleum waste, even batteries equally. Plastic, paper and batteries can be removed prior to a burn because the trash is dumped into one container and then lifted to the burn chamber by means of a conveyor belt.

A technician stands at the top of the belt, where the garbage is routed to either the right or the left. The technician can, if requested, then remove all items that are not going into the burn tanks.

Large items like motors or large appliances would have to be removed, but all smaller items could be burned.

Entech officials say that the beauty of the system is that there is not pre-sorting or pre-treating of garbage. There would be no need for special curbside containers or special garbage trucks.

The system has been tested extensively at EPA test sites throughout the US since 1988. The system has been tested on municipal, industrial and hospital waste and, according to Entech, passed all tests with flying colors. Now it is being marketed to municipalities and other potential users throughout the country.

A facility proposed for Round Lake Beach and another for Antioch could be built on two acres. They could handle 50 tons of waste per day and require 12,000 square feet of building, at a projected building cost of $720,000 and an equipment cost of $1,500,000, including installation. If Entech owns the facility they hold all fees for four years so the residents experience no immediate fee increases. If the community owns its own facility, Entech works with them to keep fees down to "the financially indicated level," according to Anderson.

The area around any proposed plant would have to be fully landscaped and the stack on all facilities would be vented three feet above the roof level to make stack inspections easier for EPA and other inspectors. There would be unannounced inspections two to three times per year according to Entech guidelines.

In Waukegan two facilities have been discussed. One would help clean pollutants from Lake Michigan and another would be used to clean a stream running through the community. In Grayslake the facility would be used to reduce a "mountain of garbage" down to a manageable size. This process could take two to three years. Other communities are talking about going for a straight garbage disposal program, rather than a clean-up effort. None of these facilities has been approved or voted on yet, and are only in the discussion phase, although North Chicago is reported to have the matter before their attorney's.

If the North Chicago plant is approved it would take four to six months to build and bring on line. With mandatory composting due to begin in July, the city's composting plans would not change, but composting would become unnecessary if a plant was in place and running, as would any formal recycling program.

The Entech thermal oxidation system would relieve many of the worries of smaller communities faced with the problems of state mandated programs aimed at garbage reduction. Residents have already begun complaining about the costs and inconvenience of such programs. At least one, unnamed Lake County village is doing a study on the feasibility of the Entech system and other communities are watching closely for the results. Until that time, officials of communities reported to be looking at the system aren't saying much.

Birds bring beauty, color to your garden

Make your garden inviting to various kinds of birds and you'll enjoy more of its natural beauty. The sounds, colors, and movements of birds will add interest to your landscape year 'round.

Experts say the best way to invite birds to nest is by providing food, shelter, and water. If you don't have a pond or stream on your property, a bird bath will serve as a good source of water. Put it where trees and shrubs will provide protective cover and be sure to keep it filled with plenty of fresh water.

A protective environment is essential for building nests, and some plants provide both shelter and food. Select such dual-purpose trees and shrubs, as dogwoods, crabapples, hawthorns, pines, cedars, hollies, viburnums, and honeysuckles.

The quick way to transform wide-open lawns into bird habitats is to disregard the rule about properly spacing trees during installation. Instead, plant a cluster of fast-growing trees. Under a lone shade tree plant shrubbery and flowers. Put shrubs in as a background for your flower bed and accent it with a small fruiting tree.

Let your garden reflect your own style and taste, whether formal or informal. Birds can't discern design elements.

A New Concept.

THE RECYCLER™

While the rest of the world is still mulching, Toro is recycling.

It's not just new terminology. It's new engineering. Patented deflectors inside the deck direct clippings to the center of the mower, where they are recut by a revolutionary new blade that produces high air movement and forces the small grass particles into the grass. Rear bag attachment is standard equipment, so you have the option to bag when extra tall or wet grass warrants it.

Perennials: Putting down roots

It is not a coincidence that the phrase in our language which traditionally describes becoming established in one's community is "putting down roots." Annual plants have root systems which die after one season, but perennials, once they take hold, will often last for many years. They become a reliable part of the fabric of the garden, and like close family and good neighbors, can be depended on to be at hand at exactly the right moments. Serious gardeners regard perennials as a healthy social habit, for they can be divided and shared, transplanted, and, if necessary, taken along when a property is sold. Stories are told about perennials that are handed down in families like treasured heirlooms.

In the months and years after buying a property there are many competing demands on the homeowners time and checkbook which tend to delay the process of developing a garden. Even if we are fortunate to find a suitable older home with gardens already begun, most of us wait through a year or more to see what will come up. Few of us are presented at the real estate closing with a detailed garden plan, although this would make an excellent selling point for a property. Most dedicated gardeners find that the investment of time in drawing up a landscape design, with heights, seasons, colors, and textures noted, pays off in the beauty and orderliness of the finished product. Eric Widitz, of Landesign in Island Lake, helps new gardeners to do this sort of planning.

A garden is a commitment to a place. The investment pays off with perennials in a year or more after preparing the beds and planting. And so, as we are increasingly a transient society, we see the apparent popularity of annual plantings. All too frequently we are ready to move again before our dreams of flowers, trees and shrubs reach maturity. And, we are, with trends toward two-earner families or single parent families, finding less time to devote to our gardens. Annuals are bright, and cheerful, a kind of quick fix to our yards. And some varieties, like shade-loving impatiens, provide color solutions in problem areas that are harder to achieve with perennials.

But in the long run, the cost in time and money of replanting every year can be considerable, and the truly frugal gardener soon searches for the best local source of perennials. Their common names evoke visions of English gardens: delphinium, lupine, peony, day lily, lamb's ears, columbine, poppy, daffodil, bellflower, chrysanthemum, daisy, hosta, lily of the valley, iris, phlox, primrose, bleeding heart. Little by little they can be added, and with proper site selection, good bed preparation and minimal maintenance, will rarely fail. Many varieties spread, and few small plants will become glorious borders in no time. A beautiful perennial display garden is in the making at Landesign. The spring and early summer is usually the best time to plant, and it is the time when garden centers such as this have the greatest selection of perennial plants for sale.

Illinois ranks high in revoking licenses

Secretary of State Jim Edgar released 1989 statistics showing motorists charged with drunk driving in Illinois lose their licenses 90 percent of the time, a fact that a federal highway safety official says places Illinois among the leading states in that category.

"A total of 40,451 people lost their license last year after being arrested for drunk driving," Edgar said.

"From all studies in the country available, the state of Illinois has one of the highest percentages of DUI offenders losing their driving privileges following an arrest for drunk driving," said Donald McNamara, regional administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Edgar said he is pleased drunk driving laws in Illinois have proven effective but added much work remains before highways are rid of drunken drivers.

"We cannot let down our guard against the deadly menace of drinking and driving," Edgar said. "Nine years of work to educate the public and legislate tough laws that work are paying off, but too many innocent people continue to die because of impaired motorists."

Comparative statistics from 1980 to 1989 show a decline of about 40 percent in the percentage of intoxicated teen drivers killed in highway accidents. In 1980, 45 out of every 100 teen drivers tested after being fatally injured were legally intoxicated. The number declined to 27 by 1989.

"We are especially pleased with the decline in drunk driving among teens in Illinois," Edgar said. "Grassroots groups like Students Against Driving Drunk and other peer-pressure programs encouraged by the Sec. of State's office have helped in this effort."

For all drivers, there was a decline of about 20 percent during the 10-year period in the number of fatally injured drivers found to have high blood-alcohol levels.

Edgar also pointed to an overall highway fatality decline during the 1980's, when nearly 5,000 fewer persons died in accidents compared to the previous decade.

"New laws and aggressive highway safety programs have convinced many motorists to choose a designated driver, buckle up and slow down," Edgar said.

Growing old is no reason to stop growing.

Someday, you may need special care for an elderly person you love. That's when you'll be glad you know about Hillcrest Retirement Village.

Hillcrest is an intermediate care nursing center. But more important, we're a group of people who care enough to respond to other needs as well. Needs for compassion. Companionship. And Comfort. We offer therapy for the mind as well as the body. With activities that challenge both. From continuing education classes to daily exercise classes to arts, music and crafts.

We believe the most important part of elderly care is caring.

It's not the warm, relaxed surroundings that make Hillcrest so special. It's the attitude that flourishes in such a pleasant atmosphere.

For a detailed brochure, write Hillcrest Retirement Village (an Intermediate Care Nursing Center), at 1740 N. Circuit Drive, Round Lake Beach, Illinois 60073. Or call Ruth Lange at (708) 546-5301. It's a decision you would feel good about.

We know pools.

Who should you trust for pool care?
The cashier at the discount chain store? She may be able to sell you a drum of chlorine, but she probably knows as much about pool care as she does brain surgery.
Or perhaps you've tried the "truckload" chlorine dealer. Fact is, his interest in your pool stops as soon as the sale is made.
As a BioGuard Authorized Pool Care Center, all our people are trained professionals when it comes to pool care. We can give you expert advice, free computerized water analysis and more.
So don't trust just anyone--trust a BioGuard Authorized Dealer. We really know pools.
Bring your pool to BioGuard. We make swimming a heavenly experience.

Bring your pool to BioGuard.
